Stop Walkouts Against Nation, F.D.R. Warning

Backs Murphy Stand
In Opposing
WPA Strikes
LAW IS INVOKED
Officials Move to Curb Interference With Workers on Projects

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt said today there could not be strikes against the government and that a WPA strike was such action. "You cannot strike against the government," Mr. Roosevelt said, later sending out word to newsmen who had attended his press conference that this phrase could be quoted directly.

This permission, given only on rare occasions, apparently was designed to emphasize the president's views toward widespread WPA strikes. He made the statement at his press conference in response to a question about whether he agreed with Attorney General Murphy that there could not be strikes against the government.

He reported he wanted to know whether a strike of Tennessee Valley Authority employees, for example, would be against the government and Mr. Roosevelt replied at first in the affirmative but indicated he had misunderstood the question and added later that he did not know.

WPA workers have been striking because of a provision in the present relief law which scrapped the prevailing wage basis of payment and required 130 hours of work a month.

Won't Discuss Issue
In backing up Murphy's strike statement, the president said first that there could not be strikes against the government. He was asked then whether a WPA strike was a strike against the government and added that it was.

A questioner inquired whether he could discuss the difficulties of the prevailing wage as compared with the 130-hour requirement, but the president replied that it would take too long, as it was a matter for an hour's discussion. He said there were many pros and cons on each angle.

It would be hard, the chief executive continued, to talk intelligently about any one angle of the prevailing wage as opposed to the 130 hours of work per month without giving it undue emphasis.

Subsistence Pay
For instance, he continued, how far should the government go with relief? That is to say, Mr. Roosevelt explained, that it is proposed to pay subsistence that is a little bit better than home relief. But, he added, there is a problem of highly-skilled artisans involving the question of how much they should get.

The press, he declared, might be considered an example and he asked whether, if those in the conference room had to go on relief, the basis for their pay should be the average earnings of every one present.

Then there is a question of how much a clergyman, for instance, should get, he added, and of how much should be paid a bank cashier who has been making $5,000 a year.

Green at White House
President Roosevelt personally received from officials of the American Federation of Labor today a set of recommendations for removing the cause of contention.

Upon quitting the conference with Mr. Roosevelt at the White House in Washington, William Green, A. F. of L. president, reported that the president would "explore" the recommendations and "see what can be done."

He declined to disclose what proposals were offered but said they numbered "two or three."

Meanwhile, with thousands of relief workers staying away from their jobs and with department of

France, Britain In First United Military Display

Premier Daladier Declares Army Invincible Against Any Attack

Paris—(P)—France and Britain staged their first joint display of military might since the World war today before throngs numbering more than a million in the heart of Paris.

After the parade, Premier Daladier declared in a broadcast that the French army was invincible against any attack. "Any menace," he said, "any effort at domination will find us resolved to defend French liberties and to join our efforts with those of all peoples determined to safeguard their liberties."

Planes, tanks, big and little guns, motorized equipment and a cross section of the finest troops of both nations, 30,000 strong, paraded before a reviewing stand.

There President Lebrun, Premier Daladier and British War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha stood with the high command of France's and Britain's air, land and sea forces and the rulers of the French colonial empire.

Observe Anniversary
Among Lebrun's guests at the main reviewing stand was Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of President Roosevelt. She came to France Wednesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Dora Delano Forbes, a resident of Paris.

Marching together toward an uncertain future, the two nations joined in observance of the 150th anniversary of French independence.

The huge demonstration of unity was designed to show the national preparedness of the two allies in the face of the Italian-German military combine.

It was three years since German troops occupied the Rhineland, nine months since Munich, four months since disruption of Czechoslovakia and three months since Italy invaded Albania.

French troops of all colors and parts of the empire marched with 450 specially picked British soldiers.

Woman Slain by Fellow Tenant

Killed After She Raps
On Door to Protest Against Noise

New York—(P)—Elizabeth Schneider, 55, was killed today by a fellow tenant in her apartment house when she rapped at his door to protest the noise he was making.

Police reported that she was dragged into his flat, strangled and thrust into a bathtub filled with water and that the beserk killer then dropped dead of a heart attack after a 15-minute struggle with officers.

Miss Schneider, who lived on the fourth floor, was killed in an apartment on the floor below which the police said was occupied by Walter Ferguson, 45. She went there, they added, to complain against boisterous singing issuing from the flat and had no opportunity to say a word before she was pulled inside.

Sam Fox, an insurance company agent heard her screams and, peering through the slightly ajar door of the Ferguson apartment, saw her being strangled and dragged toward the bathtub.

Fox first sought vainly to free her, he reported to the police, and then ran shouting from the building to summon help.

Two patrolmen, as they entered the Ferguson apartment, found the assailant with his hands still on Miss Schneider's throat. There was a fierce struggle, but it was too late; the woman's limp body sank under the eyes of the police.

Miss Schneider was a former circus midwife.

Confesses Setting
His Farm Home Afire
Racine—(P)—William Greenwald, deputy state fire marshal, said last night that Emil Kadlec, 34, had signed a confession he had set fire to his farm home on Highway 42 Wednesday.

The two-story frame structure was destroyed, with most of its contents. Greenwald said Kadlec was suspected when his personal effects were found in his automobile.

Kadlec had been operating the farm, owned by his widowed mother, for about five years. Greenwald said Kadlec, who is unmarried, admitted he was prompted to the act by a belief his mind was slipping.

Kadlec was bound over to municipal court for trial after District Attorney Richard Harvey, Jr., issued an arson warrant and Kadlec waived a preliminary hearing before Court Commissioner William F. Jones.

M'NUTT SWORN IN AS SECURITY HEAD

Shortly after senate confirmation of his nomination, Paul V. McNutt (left), former governor of Indiana and retiring high commissioner to the Philippines, took the oath of office as federal security administrator. Administering the oath is George E. Scott, chief clerk of the bureau of business management, social security board.

Seek Mysterious Visitor After Green Bay Man's Body, Battered About Head, Is Found in Bed

Green Bay—His head battered by blows from a heavy wooden, steel-banded club, Matt Weidner, 54, was found dead in his bed about 5:30 this morning. The club, which members of his family said they had not seen before, lay on the bed.

Mrs. Weidner found Weidner's body when she went to her husband's room on the first floor to awaken him. She said her husband came home at 11 o'clock last night with a friend she knew only as "Henry." Her husband, she said, told her the man owed him $430 and that he was going to collect the 23-year-old bill.

Mrs. Weidner said she did not see the man, but heard her husband talking to him. She was in bed on the second floor at the time, she said. Weidner's step-daughter, Marie Charles, 25, came home about 1:30, but said her father had retired. Another daughter, Charlotte Weidner, 20, had retired earlier in the evening.

Police said investigation showed no windows or doors in the house were forced. The visitor had been expected to remain at the house overnight, but Weidner's bed was unruined except where his body lay. Weidner apparently was killed while sleeping, police said, as there was no sign of a commotion in the bedroom.

The family dog, tied beneath Weidner's bedroom window, made no noise during the night, the family said.

The club found on the bed was once the wooden handle of a pike pole used by paper mill workers. The steel hooks had been removed.

Weidner had been employed at the Fort Howard Paper mill. No description of the mysterious visitor could be given by the family. Police are seeking him.

Harlan Awaiting 2 Federal Agents

State Law Department
Asked to Help Prosecute 223 Miners

Harlan, Ky.—(P)—This coal-field citadel of labor strife awaited tensely today the arrival of two federal agents detailed to investigate bloody battling between national guardsmen and miners in which one was killed and seven injured Wednesday.

The state law department was asked by County Attorney Bert Howard to step into the case to assist with the prosecution of 223 union miners arrested following the "pitched battle" that brought death to one of their number.

Forty-two of the men were released, pending examining trials Monday, on $1,000 bonds signed by relatives and friends.

Meanwhile, Governor A. B. Chandler, CIO Chief John L. Lewis and Representative Hoffman (D-Mich.) debated the "responsibility" for the mine and street clashes whose injury toll included the serious wounding of Militia Captain John Hanbery.

Hand Grenades Thrown At British Consulate
Shanghai—(P)—The British embassy disclosed tonight that two hand grenades had been thrown by unidentified persons at the British consulate in Tsingtao, shattering windows but injuring no one.

The Tsingtao consulate had been damaged previously in anti-British demonstrations Monday and Wednesday which British authorities said were Japanese-inspired.

A Japanese dispatch from Tsingtao said today's grenade throwers "probably were anti-Japanese agitators trying to aggravate British-Japanese relations."

Tsingtao has become the chief center of British-Japanese strife, which has spread to many parts of China.

Portsmouth, N. H.—(P)—Undaunted by the disastrous mishap which sent the half-flooded submarine Squalus plunging back to the ocean floor just as success appeared ready to cap seven weeks of perilous salvage work, the United States navy valiantly launched a new effort today to raise the craft and her 26 dead.

Divers were ordered down to survey how much damage was done last yesterday when the $4,000,000 vessel ripped away from its net of lifting equipment, danced on its tail for brief seconds, bow whipping above the surface, and then dove swiftly back to the bottom where it had rested since the first fatal plunge May 23.

Roosevelt in Plea for Vote On Neutrality

Says Action Necessary
This Term for 'Peace' And 'Security'

100 - WORD MESSAGE

Includes Hull Statement On 'Present Situation of Danger'

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt told congress today neutrality legislation should be enacted this session "for the cause of peace and in the interest of American neutrality and security."

In a terse, 100-word special message, Mr. Roosevelt forwarded a statement by Secretary Hull entitled "peace and neutrality" in which the state department head referred to "the present situation of danger."

The president's message gave "full approval" to Hull's statement. After a reference to the 12-11 vote of the senate foreign relations committee to defer action on neutrality until next session, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"It has been abundantly clear to me for some time for the cause of peace and in the interest of American neutrality and security, it is highly advisable that the congress at this session should take certain much needed action."

"In the light of present world conditions I see no reason to change that opinion."

Can't 'Close Eyes'

The document then continued with Hull's statement.

"In the present situation of danger," the secretary of state said, "a peaceful nation like ours cannot competently close its eyes and ears in formulating a peace and neutrality policy, as though abnormal and critical conditions did not exist."

"The entire question of peace and neutrality at this serious juncture in its possible effects upon the safety of our country."

Defense Completing Testimony in Bomb Murder in Illinois

Carmi, Ill.—(P)—The testimony of Theodore Simmons, on trial with Mrs. Alice Austin for the bomb murder of the woman's husband, was awaited today to complete the defense's case.

Simmons, 30-year-old neighbor of Mrs. Austin, is alleged to have supervised planting the three sticks of dynamite which killed Earl Austin last March 20. A third defendant, Ira Scott, 29-year-old farmhand, pleaded guilty and was the state's principal witness.

Scott told of driving to where Austin's truck was parked at Cave-in-Rock, attaching the dynamite to the floorboards and running the 43-foot fuse to the exhaust pipe, and of Simmons' "inspection." The farmhand said Simmons offered him $50 for the job, but he had believed only the truck was to be destroyed.

The defense, opening its case yesterday, immediately sought to establish that Simmons was not out of the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Shumaker, Cave-in-Rock friends, long enough to go with Scott to Austin's truck.

Invites Farm Leaders To Picnic, Conference

Abbotsford, Wis.—(P)—Charles Goldamer, president of the Wisconsin Farm Holiday association, today sent invitations to leaders of all farm organizations in the state to meet with Holiday association chiefs at a picnic July 23 at Rocky Arbor park, a mile and a half northwest of Wisconsin Dells.

"After the picnic lunch there will be a conference of farm leaders called for the purpose of formulating non-partisan policies and principles for future guidance in coming campaigns and legislative sessions," the invitations said.

W. H. Markham of Horicon, counsel for the Holiday association, said that until the picnic meeting there would be no information as to the wishes of the farmers on a recent suggestion that dairy producers withhold milk from the market to force an increase in the price of milk.

The proposed strike, Markham added, has been postponed until Aug. 6.

Naval Salvage Crew Renews Attempts to Raise Squalus After First Efforts Fail

Portsmouth, N. H.—(P)—Undaunted by the disastrous mishap which sent the half-flooded submarine Squalus plunging back to the ocean floor just as success appeared ready to cap seven weeks of perilous salvage work, the United States navy valiantly launched a new effort today to raise the craft and her 26 dead.

Divers were ordered down to survey how much damage was done last yesterday when the $4,000,000 vessel ripped away from its net of lifting equipment, danced on its tail for brief seconds, bow whipping above the surface, and then dove swiftly back to the bottom where it had rested since the first fatal plunge May 23.

Beginning at daybreak yesterday, the delicate, but ponderous, task of lifting the submersible proceeded slowly. The flooded stern, which holds the bodies of the dead, had to be tugged for hours before it broke away from the sucking mud.

The work progressed steadily, however, until surface signs indicated the Squalus was suspended 85 feet above the bottom, 155 feet below the surface, according to plan, and ready for a shore-ward tow.

And then something went wrong. Associated Press observers at the scene told of a wild flurry which occurred with all the suddenness and horror of a dynamite blast. Two

Mass Picketing Is Banned in Badger Labor Board Order

Heil to Read Special Message
Tuesday; House Gives Final Approval to Revenue Measure

Madison—(P)—Governor Heil will appear before the legislature Tuesday with a special message to outline the legislation he wants passed and help speed the law-makers to an early adjournment.

Announcement of the governor's intentions came simultaneously with passage by the assembly of the administration's $18,800,000 tax bill which would leave the general fund from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 short of appropriations voted and anticipated.

By a vote of 51 to 43 the house approved the revenue measure in the same form in which it was engrossed Wednesday, and sent it to the senate. It would levy a new tax of 2 cents a package on cigarettes, increase liquor taxes, beer and whisky permits, and raise about $62,000 in re-enacted and adjusted income taxes.

Governor Heil's message is expected to be brief. It will review legislation passed during the last six months and will cover what he expects to be done in regard to taxes, the budget and governmental reorganization.

Overrides Veto
Meanwhile the senate, for the first time this session, overrode one of the governor's vetoes. It passed over his objections, 22 to 8, the bill of Senator Otto Mueller (R) Wausau, making illegal the issuance of trading stamps by filling stations on gasoline sales.

The governor disapproved it on the ground it discriminated against a single class of business. Mueller told the senate he thought the chief executive had been ill advised. "The senate messaged the bill to the assembly where a two-thirds vote will be necessary to make it effective."

The legislators will await with interest any views the governor may express on meeting the budget deficit resulting mainly from abandonment of the plan to use $7,500,000 of highway money for general purposes.

Major bills on the reorganization program aimed at replacing three man commissions with directors

Hospital Workers To Get Pay Checks

Assembly Concurs in Senate Measure Providing For July Cash

Madison—(P)—With a swift change of heart the assembly today concurred in a senate bill allowing the state department of mental hygiene to meet a $80,000 July pay roll for 1,000 employees of four state hospitals for mental cases.

There was a prospect yesterday the pay roll might be held up when an emergency measure introduced by the finance committee and passed by the senate was referred to committee in the house.

It was withdrawn today on motion of Finance Chairman P. Bradley McIntyre (R) Lancaster, and after concurrence was sent to Governor Heil in typewritten form so it could be signed at once.

The department of mental hygiene which would be eliminated if the Thomsen welfare reorganization bill becomes law, has been operating without an appropriation since the start of the fiscal year July 1. It was not included in the new state budget.

The finance committee measure authorizes the state emergency board to allot temporary operating funds for the department, which supervises the Mendota and Winnebago hospitals for the insane and the training colonies for feeble-minded at Chippewa Falls and Union Grove.

Banking Department
Employee Suspended
While Probe Is Made

Madison—(P)—The state banking commission announced today it had suspended L. W. Rothe, Madison, senior statistician in the banking department, pending an investigation of George McGhee and Company, Chicago brokerage firm.

The state securities department is conducting an inquiry into business practices of the firm.

The banking commission said it would determine whether McGhee and company had made excess profits through purchase and sale of securities held in segregated trusts of banks. Rothe was in charge of supervising sales of securities for liquidating banks. He became associated with the department in 1933.

H. F. Bach, chairman of the banking commission, said a "careful inquiry" would be made "to discover if there has been any lack of caution on the part of Mr. Rothe as to the amounts realized by McGhee and Company."

Paris Newspapers Demand Purge of
'French Hitlerians'

Paris—(P)—French newspapers called today for a purge of all "French Hitlerians" and "Hitler propagandists."

Ministry of justice officials were silent amidst widely-printed stories that two employees of Paris rightist newspapers had been arrested and had confessed to receiving a total of 4,500,000 francs (about $119,000) from German agents.

Some newspapers, however, predicted more arrests soon. The socialist newspaper Le Populaire said two German agents were arrested and that a German woman had been expelled after previous deportation from Britain.

The newspaper Le Figaro acknowledged that one of its employees was arrested but said he had no connection with the editorial side or policy of the paper.

'Unfair' Practices Listed in First Major Ruling

5 CHIEF POINTS

Limits Number of Pickets
To 15 at Any One
Time in Strike

Madison—(P)—The state employment relations board today issued an order directing the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers union at the Allen-Bradley plant in Milwaukee to "cease and desist" from unfair labor practices, including mass picketing of the company's plant.

The order was the first major one issued by the board since its creation under the "employment peace act" passed by the 1939 legislature. It followed hearings on a complaint filed against the CIO union by the company on June 5.

The order prohibited the union from:

Engaging in mass picketing at or near the Allen-Bradley plant, particularly on surrounding streets—Greenfield avenue, Madison street, S. First street and S. Second street.

Threatening employees of the company with physical injury or property damage.

Can't Close Way
Obstructing and interfering with the entrance to and egress from the factory.

Obstructing and interfering with the free and uninterrupted use of the streets and public roads and sidewalks surrounding the factory.

Picketing the domicile of any employee of the company. The order directed the union to take the following affirmative action:

"The union may maintain a picket line at or near the premises of the company but shall not allow more than 15 persons to be on such picket line at any one time of the day."

"Of such 15 persons, not more than six shall be on any one of the streets surrounding the plant of the company at any one time. The pickets are not to obstruct or in any way interfere with entrance to or egress from the plant of the company. They are not to obstruct or interfere with the free and uninterrupted use of the streets, sidewalks or public roads. . . . They are not in any manner to threaten employees or customers of the company."

No 'Offensive Names'
"They are not to endeavor to prevent any one from entering the factory and they are not to jeer at, revile or call or use offensive names. Such pickets are to be maintained solely for the purpose of notifying the public, employees and prospective employees, that a strike is in progress and are limited to a number, sufficient in our opinion, to let a reasonable person know that such strike is in progress."

The order required that the union immediately post notices to its members at union headquarters and on each street corner around the factory advising that the order will be observed.

It also commanded the union to notify the board within 10 days what steps it has taken to comply with the order.

The union already has pending in federal court in Madison an injunction suit to prevent the board from exercising jurisdiction.

It was filed before Judge Patrick T. Stone and a hearing is scheduled for July 25.

Fight in Court
The union asked the court to find that it is subject only to the national labor relations act and that the state board has no authority over it.

Attorney General John Martin is prepared to go before Judge Stone with a motion to dismiss the petition, which is in the nature of a suit contesting validity of the employment peace act.

Madison—(P)—Fred Wolter, president of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers union (CIO) at the Allen-Bradley company here, announced today the union would continue mass picketing at the plant in defiance of an order issued by the state employment relations board at Madison.

Wolter said the local Wisconsin Employment Relations board is to succeed in its role as a strikebreaking agency for the Allen-Bradley company. We intend to continue peaceful mass picketing and home picketing as heretofore conducted in accordance with the rights of labor as guaranteed by the constitution and sustained by many court decisions."

He charged the "decision exposes the menace which the Wisconsin Employment Relations board is to the rights of all organized labor" and said that organized labor would "show its resentment against this attack by supporting a great mass picketing demonstration in front of the company Monday morning."

Farmer Denies Charges Made by Markets Bureau

Hearing Opened at Manitowoc on Sale of Milk Below Board Price

Manitowoc — (P) — Joseph Lemberger, Manitowoc farmer, today denied charges brought by the state department of agriculture and markets which sought to stop him from selling milk below prices set by the state board.

Gerald Clifford, Green Bay, counsel for Lemberger, answering the complaint filed by the department in municipal court, stated that Lemberger.

Had no information as to the extent or legality of a Manitowoc or Two Rivers milk market.

Sold sanitary milk in sanitary containers and that such sales were not contrary to law.

Denied any of his acts were a threat to any lawful market or price or constitute any danger to public health, and that Lemberger.

Would "continue to perform the lawful act of producing and the lawful act of selling milk."

Filed by Ammon

Ralph E. Ammon, agriculture and markets department director, filed the complaint against Lemberger June 24 for defying the legislature and the people of the state of Wisconsin in selling milk below fixed prices in the regulated Two Rivers market.

The complaint charged that in addition to selling below fixed prices Lemberger failed to obtain a dealer's license, retained in gallons in violation of the regulated market order, and distributed in sanitary raw milk in unsanitary containers.

Lemberger was served with a summons directing him to appear in the Manitowoc municipal court within 20 days. Ammon asked the court to enjoin Lemberger from further alleged violations.

Set Price at 5 Cents

Lemberger offered milk at his farm for 5 cents a quart. The fixed price is 10 cents. Later he advertised he also would sell milk at the Two Rivers farm market for 6 cents.

Attorney Clifford said the "case comes under the criminal statutes" and "the state could never obtain a conviction under such statutes and has made no effort to arrest Lemberger."

"Instead," he contended, "it is trying an injunction procedure. We claim the courts cannot recognize such procedure under the criminal statutes."

Charges similar to those filed against Lemberger also have been filed by the department against William Rohan of Kaukauna and Walter Klitzke of Appleton.

Water Pumpage in June Higher Than Same Month in 1938

Water pumpage at the Appleton purification plant during June totaled 74,792,000 gallons, the highest mark for June on record, according to W. U. Gallaher, plant superintendent.

Last June the pumpage was 72,245,000 gallons. The exceptionally hot weather in June and the consequent use of water for early gardens and lawns probably is responsible for the increase this year.

Bacteria removal during the period averaged 99.9 per cent while E. Coli removal was the same. Alum used averaged 2.4 grains per gallon; chlorine, 3.3 parts per million; ammonium sulphate, 1.7 parts per million; and activated carbon, 63 parts per million.

Fuel oil used during the month totaled 73,892,000 gallons and by electric engines, 900,000 gallons.

Seeks Receivership, Accounting of Funds

Chicago — (P) — A retired employee of the Milwaukee railroad, John Hock of Chicago, demanded today the court appointment of a receiver for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Employees Pension association and its directors, also an accounting.

His suit, filed in Chicago superior court yesterday, in behalf of "several thousand" other members alleged about $2,000,000 was paid into the pension fund since the association was organized in 1923 and that the directors notified members July 27, 1934, that assets would be liquidated because of passage of the federal railroad retirement act.

The complaint alleged members had been deprived of money paid into the fund. A railroad spokesman said "it had nothing to do with organization of the association," that employee membership was voluntary.

Farmers are Told to Shoot Chicken Thieves

Juneau, Wis. — (P) — Sheriff Harold Hammer had this advice today for farmers dealing with chicken thieves.

"Give them lead, not chickens," Hammer gave Dodge county farmers that advice once before and it worked out well, he said. One farmer shot twice at a chicken thief, and Hammer added, "my only regret was that he missed him." The chicken thief dropped off but now they're increasing again.

Winnebago Police Challenge County Here to Ball Game

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Winnebago county police officers and radio operators, inflated over their ability on the softball diamond, have issued a challenge to Outagamie county and Appleton police officers for a game anytime and anyplace.

Captain Irving Stulp and radio operator, John Hughes, who tips the scales at 325 pounds, says the Winnebago county boys are getting tired of the usual round of recreation and have decided it's about time the policemen get together.

The Winnebago county boys are so proud of themselves, Stulp said, they have an idea they can beat any police team in Outagamie county when the chips are down. Answers to the challenge may be sent to Stulp or Hughes.

No Strikes Against Nation, Roosevelt Tells WPA Groups

Justice agents investigating various reports on law violations, the National Conference of Mayors, meeting in Washington, added its voice to the rising clamor of labor demands that the administration act.

Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia of New York, conference president, announced it had been decided to submit suggestions to Colonel F. C. Harrington, commissioner of works projects, for "easing" the situation.

Silent on Details

He kept details secret but said the suggestions were designed to avoid a narrow and strict construction of some provisions of the recently-enacted WPA bill.

The strikes grew out of a requirement in this law that instead of drawing the prevailing hourly wage all WPA workers would have to put in 130 hours a month for about the same total monthly wage they previously had drawn for fewer hours on the prevailing rate basis.

Harrington, who recently slashed WPA rolls from 2,600,000 to 2,400,000 today ordered the pay roll further reduced by 300,000 before Aug. 1.

Investigates Threat

At the request of WPA headquarters in Washington, a federal investigator was sent to East St. Louis, Ill., to look into reports that threats and intimidation had been used to prevent relief workers from going to their jobs.

Previously, agents of the federal bureau of investigation had been sent to Minneapolis to see whether federal laws had been violated in connection with the WPA strike there.

Murphy said there had been instances of racketeering in the WPA strikes, notably at Minneapolis and at some other points. He added that racketeering was "different from the sincere type of protest, which is understandable."

STRIKE ENDED

Milwaukee — (P) — WPA officials reported a strike of workers protesting new hour regulations definitely was at an end today and all projects in the city and the state resumed operations with full forces this morning.

The strike began July 5 when WPA workers objected to rules compelling them to work 130 hours a month. It gradually spread until more than 20,000 persons were idle throughout Wisconsin. Similar strikes occurred in other states.

Faced with a dismissal order if they remained away from work for five consecutive days, men began returning to their projects Wednesday and Thursday after Workers' Alliance officials urged them to resume work under protest.

Late yesterday officials of the Milwaukee Building Trades (A. F. of L.) Council authorized its 1,500 skilled members to go back to work.

About 400 WPA workers were absent from projects the specified five days and face loss of their jobs.

Minneapolis — (P) — Police with riot guns forced a lane through a picket line of 300 persons today to enable 150 women to return to their jobs on a WPA sewing project closed after a skirmish Monday.

Police Inspector Frank Bleed said Patrolman John Green was scratched and bruised about the head and neck by a picket, whom the patrolman then knocked out with a blow from his fist in the course of the incident. Green was treated at a hospital. Companions of the picket took him away.

THROWN FROM BIKE

SQUALUS LEAPS OUT OF WATER, THEN RETIRES TO OCEAN FLOOR

Like a giant fish, the 11-starred submarine Squalus reared its bow high in the air off Portsmouth, N. H., and then plunged back to the ocean floor as it broke away from its lifting pontoons during the efforts of the Navy to raise the submersible and its cargo of 26 dead. One of the pontoons which was tossed about in the rolling water is at left.

Yindra Continues Move to Segregate Highway Receipts

Wants Bill Passed to Make Sure Funds Won't be Diverted

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Senator Francis Yindra, Manitowoc Democratic insurgent, today set out to slay a ghost, a ghost of Hell highway fund diversion plans which was laid to rest by its creators this week.

Diversion of motorist funds for general state usage is dangerous, Yindra said, because once it is begun it is not likely ever to be discontinued.

Use of highway funds (gasoline taxes and license receipts) for general governmental purposes would make the gasoline tax a sales tax of "the most vicious type," he continued. Moreover, such an action might offend the federal government to such an extent that Wisconsin's participation in federal highway funds might be curtailed.

Yindra complained that administration Republicans thus far have refused to remove from a committee pigeon-hole his resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to segregate highway receipts from general tax revenues. He would also modernize the highway fund accounting system.

"Antiquated System"

"The system now used is an antiquated voucher record similar to that used by the country grocery store about 40 years ago when they placed all the bills they owed on one nail and all the bills they paid on another, and counted their cash and in that manner kept a record of the business."

"It is no wonder that the vast majority do not understand the financing of our state," he observed. Yindra suggested that he may favor a reduction in auto taxes, but he will insist on modernizing the accounts first so that the people may know how much money is needed for an adequate highway system.

He said that most autos are owned by families with incomes of less than $30 a week, and that the average auto is worth not more than $200.

Postal Workers Open Two-Day Convention

LaCrosse — (P) — The two-day annual conventions of three state post office employees' organizations and their auxiliaries opened today, with every county sending representatives.

The organizations are the Wisconsin State Association of Letter Carriers, the Wisconsin Federation of Rural Carriers and the Wisconsin Federation of Post Office Clerks, and the auxiliaries of each.

Chief speaker tomorrow will be W. W. Howes, first assistant postmaster general and former resident of Tomah, Wis. He will come here by plane from the Minnesota postmasters' convention at St. Paul.

Guardsmen Spend Two Days at Camp McCoy in Gun Practice

BY A TIRED SOLDIER

The entire company was up at 5:30 a. m. Monday to begin preparations for three days of machine gun and pistol firing on the ranges at Camp McCoy, which is about 30 miles from Camp Douglas. The second platoon was on police detail this morning. We entrucked at 7:30 for the hot, dusty trip to the McCoy ranges and set up a bivouac camp in the morning Monday afternoon was spent in machine gun firing.

All men were given a chance to fire and although the recruits were a bit nervous they soon got the feel of the gun and really "burned them in." After we got back to field camp we were busy until mess time cleaning the guns in preparation for more firing on Tuesday. The refreshment tent set up by the regimental canteen at Camp Douglas was again a popular spot as we came in grimy and hot from the ride back to our company street. Many of the men tried to keep out some of the choking dust which the truck conveyed raised by covering their faces with handkerchiefs and the regiment looked almost like a group of bandits.

Monday night was extremely cold. A record for being quiet is being established by Private "Gaby" Belin who averages half a dozen words in an hour.

Sergeant "Wally" Klein has been named matchmaker for the entire camp. He is responsible for the boxing and wrestling matches in the 106th cavalry, the 127th and 128th infantry regiments and the 32nd tanks. Lieutenant Aderhold of Company I of Menasha is assisting Wally with this work.

Truck drivers for this camp are Privates John Bauer, Vic Mattson, Ray De Coster, Norman Knip, La Vern Berger, Bob Markel and John Kuchenecker. Kuchenecker reports that he has been named master driver for the 127th regiment. He is the only driver from our company who has driven in previous encampments.

Tuesday

After a cold night we were out early for instruction in firing the machine guns by instrument in preparation for indirect firing this afternoon. Indirect firing is firing at a target which cannot be seen by the gunners who must set all adjustments for range by instruments and rely on observers who can see the target for corrections in firing orders. Instruments used are range finders, aiming circles, clinometers for angle of elevation on the gun.

Tuesday afternoon we got an early start for the range but were delayed when we had to wait for a long column of horse drawn artillery which was coming from the firing range. The usual wisecracking and exchanging of remarks added no little fun to the trip to the range.

The "Brothers Club" tells us that the water situation is well in hand and that they found the first drink of water in bivouac camp. They also managed to find a private swimming pool near camp and had a few sessions before they were discovered. To top things off they carried a ten gallon can of water three quarters of a mile so the rest of the men could have drinking water.

When we got back at camp Tuesday afternoon the mail was waiting for us and there were beaming smiles on the faces of the lucky boys who got letters while the rest of the men stood around Sergeant Orville Muenster hopefully waiting for him to find one for them in the small group of letters which came into camp. The fellows here are doing a lot of writing so let's even up at home and do a lot of writing to the boys here. The address here is Company D, 127th Infantry, Camp Douglas, Wis.

Wednesday

The morning was spent practicing for guard mount in preparation for homeguard tomorrow at noon. Men walk past for 2 hours and are off duty for four hours. Recruits practiced dry firing with the pistols under the direction of Sergeant Muenster.

After an early dinner we struck tents, rolled packs and policed the camp area in preparation to our going back to Camp Douglas. Part of the afternoon was spent in pistol firing and we then loaded onto trucks for the trip back to Camp Douglas. Ice cold showers at regimental bath house and the shaving of 3-day beards climaxed the day.

Oakcrest Sewer Job To be Resumed Monday

The sanitary sewer project in Oakcrest addition will be resumed Monday morning, Alfred Wickesberg, city engineer, said today. Taxpayers to be employed on the project should report to work at 7 o'clock Monday morning, he said.

Juneau, Wis. — (P) — Friends of George P. Oeschmer, farmer in the town of Leroy, Dodge county, are congratulating Oeschmer on his election to a fiftieth consecutive term on the Wuthnow school board.

Physical Defects in Children Should be Corrected in Summer

Correction of physical defects recorded during the school year should be undertaken during the summer vacation, it is urged by Miss Marie Klein, Outagamie county nurse.

Even slight defects, if neglected, may result in serious handicaps for the growing child, Miss Klein points out. Her records show that the most common defects found among Outagamie county children are faulty teeth, adenoids, tonsils and eyesight.

When medical or dental care can be arranged for the summer months by parents who have received notice of defects in their children's physiques, the corrective treatment may save much absence from school the following year.

Explaining her duties, Miss Klein states:

"The public health nurse's most valuable service to her community is educational in nature. In general it consists of winning parents over to the sound principle of preventive care for all, with emphasis on protection of child health. "The nurse has to depend on the cooperation of parents for the success of her program, and I have found that this cooperation has been wholehearted in the great majority of instances."

Pre-school children should come in for equal attention, Miss Klein advises, and should be included in immunization programs against diphtheria and small pox, preferably during the second six months of life, as well as receive periodic health examinations to insure normal development during the early years.

Except during her vacation period, which ends Aug. 5, Miss Klein will be available for conferences with parents during the remainder of the summer.

Work Progresses In Remodeling of School Building

New City Hall May be Ready for Occupancy In Late August

The remodeling of Lincoln school so that it may be used as a city hall is scheduled for completion July 30, according to Raymond N. LeVeé, architect.

Minor details of the work will have to be completed after that date, furniture will be purchased and placed, cabinets and desks will be installed so that it probably will be late August or early September before the city offices will be moved into the building.

The council chambers are about completed with committee rooms adjacent to the chambers. The chambers are paneled with oak with a plastic art ceiling and will be fitted with suitable desks and chairs to blend with the general color scheme.

Entrance arches of black granite are being installed to provide a modern entrance and lobby at the west and east sides of the structure.

The heating and plumbing contracts, both held by the Reinhard Wenzel company, have been completed. Lighting fixtures are being installed.

Nummer and Lemke Construction company, Kaukauna, are the general contractors for the job, which is being done under a FWA project.

Requests License

An application for a license to tend bar in Appleton, was filed in city hall today by Samuel Nau, 1342 W. Spencer street. The request will be considered by the council's license committee.

Here are the biennium figures:

Heil $9,764,740
LaFollette 11,069,680
LaFollette 10,390,191
Schmedeman 9,497,997
LaFollette 10,636,836

Only Schmedeman's figures, it was shown, were lower, and by only $133,372.

The statement was based, it should be pointed out, on the assumption that the net Heil budget will be $72,963,119. That the total may be higher is based on the probability that the legislature may pass some of the pending appropriation bills submitted by individual members, and the fact that some administration bills carry non-budgetary appropriations. It is considered likely that the total may be exceeded by several hundred thousands of dollars.

Demands Are Heavier

The statement also pointed out that the demands on the state government this year are heavier than in some previous years, because of the increased enrollments at the university and the teachers' colleges, and the increase in institutional populations.

The state university, which took a heavy cut in its budget, now has an enrollment of nearly 12,000, compared with only 8,807 in 1933.

The teachers' college enrollment is now 6,675, several hundred higher than in previous years in the present decade, while a single institution, Stout Institute at Menominee, had increased its enrollment from 400 to 566 in the last three years. The enrollment at the state mining school at Platteville has almost doubled, from 79 in 1933 to 141 today.

State charitable and penal institutions now have 8,345 patients and inmates, the highest number since 1931, while the Grand Army home for veterans at Waupaca has increased its patient load somewhat in the last year.

The financial details of the administration were laid before every member of the legislature yesterday as the administration began to marshal its strength to pass the controversial tax bill.

Game Congress Is Critical of Wolf River Reservoir

Conservationists Fear Dam Will Ruin Recreational Assets

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — A controversy over the question of industrial penetration of the upper Wolf river region, noted for its scenic beauty, appeared to be brewing today as the Wisconsin Conservation congress criticized attempts to construct a dam on the Wolf for power purposes.

The congress is an advisory group connected with the state conservation department. A critical resolution adopted at its annual session this week was directed at a bill authorizing the Wolf River Reservoir company to construct the dam to develop water power, which was passed by the senate yesterday.

The upper reaches of the Wolf, the resolution said, "including its course through the reservation constitute a beauty spot which is the mecca of thousands of persons each summer as a recreational area."

"The beauty of this river is not surpassed by any body of water in this state, and the fishing and boating facilities thereon have been for many years and now are the envy of the rest of the state of Wisconsin, and all of which is now threatened to destruction by the proposed development of industry and supposed flood control of said river."

It was said that "industrial exploitation has heretofore destroyed many of the natural gifts of this state," and that therefore Governor Heil and the legislature ought to "preserve the natural beauties of this state which are still left by men for men for recreational purposes."

The proposed reservoir would be built about the reservation at Lily. The congress demanded that it be built "below" the southern limits of the reservation that flowages of the river will not reach into the reservation."

Previously representatives of the state conservation department had protested that construction of the reservoir would ruin trout fishing on the upper Wolf. Supporters of the development, however, have consistently denied this.

City Requests Prices On Cars of Chlorine

Bids on two or more carloads of chlorine to be used in the treatment of sewage will be received by the city of Appleton up to 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, July 25. Proposals on the use of a power shovel for street work also will be received up to that time.

Claim State Operating Costs Under Heil Less Than Those During LaFollette's Regime

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — A comparison of appropriation figures for the last ten years shows that the Heil administration's allowances for the operations of state government functions are smaller than those in the three terms of former Governor LaFollette, and only slightly higher than the appropriations under the Democratic regime of Albert G. Schmedeman, which reduced all state expenditures radically.

That was the substance of an elaborate chart of financial figures released today by Charles McKeown, financial assistant and advisor to Governor Julius F. Heil.

The fact that the total appropriations of the Heil administration to date are the highest in the present decade—and the highest in state history—is due to a tremendous rise in the amounts of state money aids to counties and other political subdivisions of the state, for charities, highways, schools, relief, and other forms of public welfare, McKeown's statement shows.

Compares Appropriations

McKeown showed total legislative appropriations of the Heil administration and its predecessors as follows:

Heil (1939-40) $72,963,119
LaFollette (1937-38) 71,840,562
LaFollette (1935-36) 60,377,845
Schmedeman (1933-34) 47,416,306
LaFollette (1931-32) 58,333,765

Therefore it was shown that the Heil appropriations are $10,526,557 higher than those of LaFollette's third term, $25,446,813 higher than the Schmedeman expenditures, and $14,629,354 higher than LaFollette's first term in the capital.

However, McKeown explained that the net aids to localities have jumped tremendously in the Heil budget as compared with them with previous budgets as follows:

Heil $41,482,727
LaFollette 37,357,325
LaFollette 30,737,286
Schmedeman 20,058,525
LaFollette 26,970,387

Aids Increase

Therefore, McKeown showed, Heil's aid to the local government exceeds LaFollette's third term aid by $4,125,402, is $10,745,441 more than Schmedeman's aids, and $14,512,340 higher than those of LaFollette's first term.

The statement showed that the economies in state operating expenses in the Heil budget over the previous LaFollette budget were chiefly obtained through decreases to institutions for higher education.

Such appropriations in the Heil budget are $1,283,708 under the last LaFollette budget, and $874,440 under the figure in the LaFollette budget of 1931-32. The Heil figures

House Unfair to Washington With Income Tax Law

Residents of City Have No Voting Power, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—The element of sportsmanship, so often lacking in legislative bodies, has seemed to depart almost altogether from the house of representatives with respect to the helpless residents of the District of Columbia.

Unable to vote and thus to maintain a representative in the house, the people of Washington have had no voice in the government which rules them.

But the combination of no voting power and yet an unlimited and arbitrary exercise of power by members of the house of representatives who feel no sense of responsibility for the community of more than 660,000 persons resident here presents a spectacle in the governing process in which fair play appears to have been eliminated.

For many years in fact from 1870 to 1922, the congress fixed a ratio in which the federal government and the taxpayers shared on a 50-50 basis the cost of government in the District of Columbia. Then, in 1922, the ratio was fixed whereby the federal government paid 40 percent and the taxpayers 60 percent of the city's costs.

But there seems little weighing of consequences in congress. During recent months it has acted with appalling irresponsibility. Although anti-Roosevelt members in both houses have been yelling to high heaven for economy, they showed up his agricultural bill far above his request to the record-breaking figure of $1,200,000,000.

On the monetary bill the conservative "sound-money" Republicans in the senate were so eager to put Mr. Roosevelt in a hole at any price that they made the deal with the silver inflationists. They were severely left on a limb, as they were when the silver crowd ran out on them a few days later.

House Republicans rounded up enough disgruntled Democrats to block action on the bill to house the Roosevelt papers, a petty act completely ignoring the historical value of these papers which should become public property.

The same formula is used repeatedly. Republicans can for the most part be counted upon to oppose anything the administration favors.

Then there are always varying numbers of Democrats who have sincere convictions against the administration on a particular question. To that combination it often has been possible to add the necessary number of Democrats who have no convictions except that they want to sock the president. Or sometimes they don't want to go on record, in which case they will run to the cloak room during the vote and contribute their bit by a timely absence.

They call this making the nation's laws. What they are really trying to do is to unmake the nation's president.

Law Making Becomes Series of Attempts to Slap at Roosevelt

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
Washington—If you want to know what congress will do with a given measure, about all you need to do is to find out where Mr. Roosevelt stands and then predict the opposite. Congress has almost quit legislating. What passes for legislative action is mostly a series of right swings at Mr. Roosevelt's jaw. The so-called collective wisdom of congress comes down to not much more than a collective grouch against the White House.

There are two sides to the neutrality question and it would be worth while to air them thoroughly on the senate floor. But the senate foreign relations committee decides to take matters into its own hands. It kills the legislation in substance, by voting not to bring it out on the floor at this session. The senate foreign relations committee considers itself as high and mighty but it is taking on a good deal to exercise a pocket veto of legislation of this character.

The result was made possible by a combination of Republicans and Democrats, some of whom had long-standing convictions and some of whom were merely disgruntled and ready to take their revenge against Mr. Roosevelt.

The defense of the anti-Roosevelt senators on the committee is that they don't want to get this country into war. Yet this same committee is seriously considering reporting out a resolution to lay a military embargo against Japan.

Such an embargo would be as near to a declaration of war as congress could go without actually declaring it. Many persons here whose judgment is worth respect fear that such an act by congress would cause severe retaliation by Japan. Certainly the state department is fearful of the consequences that might follow.

Senator Pittman has a severe case of Japhobia. Unfortunately, this inflammatory action against Japan is sponsored by Senator Pittman, chairman of the foreign relations committee, who has a severe case of Japhobia. He justifies it on the ground that Japan has violated the 9-power treaty by making war on China. Yet an embargo against Japan under present circumstances might lay us open to a charge of treaty violation since we have with Japan a most favored nation treaty by which we pledge ourselves not to discriminate against her so long as she does not discriminate against us. Japan at least would have a pretext for protest.

If we are going to ask for trouble in this direction we had best be ready to follow through. It is odd for senators who want to keep us out of war to be indulging in such provocative business.

But there seems little weighing of consequences in congress. During recent months it has acted with appalling irresponsibility. Although anti-Roosevelt members in both houses have been yelling to high heaven for economy, they showed up his agricultural bill far above his request to the record-breaking figure of $1,200,000,000.

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Klub pounded out a 4 to 3 win over the CYO softballers in city league play last night to give the Catholics first half champs, their first defeat of the second half. Tonight the Klub will show against the Combined Locks Paper company team under the lights at the ball park.

Thirteen of the CYO batters swung at Sherman Powers' fast ball with no luck, while Carl Gordana, on the mound for the losers, struck out only one. Both pitchers were picked for seven hits. Bill Peterson's home run and Lee Lambie's double were the only extra base hits.

The Klub scored without a hit in the first. Don Van Abel, who had walked, coming home when Jack Hatchell muffed Powers' fly. The CYO tied the count in the third, when Bob Van Drasek singled, went to third on passed balls and counted on Bob Promer's single. Powers' single after Don Van Abel had reached third on another error by Hatchell enabled the Klub to go ahead at 2 to 1 in the last of the fourth.

Hatchell singled in the sixth and scored on two Klub errors to again tie the score, but the Klub again went ahead, when Bill Peterson homered to left center. Singles by Bixel and Schumann enabled the losers to knot the count again in the seventh.

The winning run came in the eighth, when Bud Tatro, Bill Peterson and Don Van Abel reeled off successive singles.

Rides are Booked For K. of C. Outing At LaFollette Park

Kaukauna—Arrangements for additional rides, for adults and children, at the Knights of Columbus annual picnic Sunday at LaFollette park were made as the committee met this week. An ocean wave and kiddie train ride, both of the latest type, will be at the park.

The picnic is slated to begin at 10 o'clock, with a basket lunch at noon. Softball will begin at 2 o'clock, and games for children will be run off at 3 o'clock. Lester J. Brenzel and James McFadden, Jr., are in charge of the contests for children.

Music will be provided all day over a loud speaking system, according to Frank Geurtz, general chairman. Prizes will be given to the winners of the various contests. Chairman of committees assisting Geurtz are Carl Andersen, refreshments; Lavigne Robedeaux, sandwich stand; riders and games, Archie Crevier; grounds and stands, Barney Lamers; trucks, David Bartjes; registration, Stan Schmidt; softball, John Verbeten.

Gertz Is Leading Brews in Hitting

Shortstop Has Mark of .424 to Pass Gib Busse for Top

Kaukauna—Joe Gertz, shortstop of the Mellow Brews, is leading the team in batting with a mark of .424, according to averages released this morning. Gertz collected 3 for 4 Wednesday night against Kimberly to pass Gib Busse, whose .421 has paced the Kaws for several weeks.

Ralph Wurdinger, first baseman, is close on Gertz' heels with a .422 mark. Wurdinger got two for two against Kimberly and was walked twice intentionally. The big Kaukauna first sacker has emerged from an early season slump and will be well up in the fight for the league batting championship. The averages follow:

	A	B	R	H	Ave.
Gertz	33	6	14	424

before returning to their home in San Diego.

Senator F. R. Fisher will spend Friday in Watertown at a conference of millers before returning to his home for the weekend. His grandson Frederick Fisher of Milwaukee has been spending the last week at the capital but returned to Waupaca Thursday with County Agent Victor Quick, who was in Madison on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Culbert of Sparta arrived this week to be employed in the Schultz Bros. store. Mr. Culbert will be assistant manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence West, Chicago, are spending three weeks in the city while Mr. West superintends the painting of the new post office which is rapidly nearing completion.

Winfield Bishop left Thursday morning for Surgeon Bay where he will help gather the cherry crop. From there he will go into the harvest fields of the Dakotas.

James Bowersox, until recently employed by Schultz Bros. left this week for Waukon, Iowa, where he will be employed by the same firm.

The Rev. and Mrs. G. N. Doody will leave Sunday for Atlanta, Ga., where they will attend the World Baptist Congress. They expect to be gone three weeks. On Sunday evening the Rev. Robert Gray of the Stevens Point Baptist church will occupy the local pulpit.

Cyril Bailey, public curator of Oxford University, England, hopes the custom of using Latin when introducing graduates for honorary degrees will never die out. English is used only when royalty receives a degree.

TRAZAN PICTURE OPENS SATURDAY

Probably everybody in the world knows Tarzan, the jungle hero. Through Edgar Rice Burroughs' books, read by millions everywhere, through the radio, through the newspaper comic strips, his fame has been carried from the jungles of Africa to the four corners of the globe.

Today Tarzan is not a mythical figure. For there actually is a Tarzan. Johnny Weissmuller, great athlete and swimmer, champion of champions, has so thoroughly taken on the identity of the jungle king that the world literally thinks of him as Tarzan rather than Weissmuller. No other man has been able to so completely take on this identity. Now Weissmuller, teamed again with Maureen O'Sullivan, comes to you in his latest jungle adventure, "TARZAN FINDS A SON," which opens Saturday at the Appleton Theatre.

"A Woman is the Judge," starring Frida Inescort, Otto Kruger and Rochelle Hudson, will also be featured on this program.

Community Band Will Play at Church Picnic

Kimberly—The Rev. Alfred Hietpas, chairman of the annual Holy Name parish picnic and bazaar which will be held in the park Sunday, July 23, announced that the Community band under the leadership of Prof. M. J. Heynen of Green Bay, would play an afternoon and evening concert. The program will get started about noon with lunch served on the grounds.

Picnic books were distributed by women of the parish last week to each paying unit of the church. During the afternoon there will be games for the children, and entertainment for all. A large variety of concession stands will be on the grounds. Malt beverages, and soft drinks also will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wolfe and daughter of Fairbault, Minn., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larson, this week. Mrs. A. Larson, mother of Mr. Larson, also is visiting at her sons home this week.

Protective Group to Meet at Grand View

Waupaca—The Chain O'Lakes Protective association will meet Saturday at Grand View, Rainbow Lake. This is the first of the summer meetings of the association. The Waupaca Troubadours entertained with a concert from a passenger launch while touring the lakes Wednesday evening. The launch left the Nelson Boat Livery

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

HERE IS GOOD NEWS!—Amazing Experiences of Relief with RUX Reported by Prominent Wisconsin People Crowds Flock to Great Medicine Sale at Local Drug Store.

The great sale of RUX Compound still goes on, and each day the fame of this remarkable medicine spreads throughout Appleton and vicinity as more and more people hear from the lips of grateful users their amazing stories of relief.

Only one of a flood of letters recently received is this statement of happy relief by Mr. Herman Koehler, well-known resident of Green Bay, living at 829 Christiana street. "I am writing this statement for the purpose of telling other Rheumatic Pain sufferers how much RUX Compound helped me. For some time I have been having Rheumatic Pains in my legs and hands. At times it would feel as though someone were jabbing me with a sharp knife. I heard of RUX Compound and decided to try it. I can say that RUX certainly helps me in relieving these pain attacks. I can recommend RUX highly for what it has done for me."

MR. HERMAN KOEHLER
If you are a Rheumatic Sufferer—if your body is racked with sharp, stabbing muscular pain attacks that make life a torment—if you roll and toss through sleepless nights, feel unfit for work or pleasure because of cruel Rheumatic, Neuralgic or Neuritic pains, you should go to the

Light-Oil Sprays Found Effective

Old, Smelly Concoctions Not Needed to Repel Flies, Trials Show

Smelly, sticky fly sprays are not necessary and soon will be things of the past.

Studies conducted by the state entomologists have shown that the old, smelly concoctions used to repel flies are not as necessary as once supposed and that almost odorless fly sprays are much more effective, according to a bulletin received by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

The important thing about fly sprays is to keep the cows free from flies during milking. Sprays found to be most effective killing and repelling flies in the barn, in the milk house, and in the kitchen as well as the rest of the home were in the light oil sprays which contained plenty of good contact insecticide. These were not only quicker but were also safer to use on the cows since they evaporate quickly. A good light-oil spray may be used by mixing one part of some good contact insecticide such as pyrethrum or Lethane 384 in nineteen parts of highly refined kerosene.

Heavy oil sprays which are made to keep the cows free from flies in the pasture may cause injury to the cow if applied too heavily. Furthermore, it was found that these sprays should not be used in the milk room or in the home. Heavy oils used carelessly may not do much more harm to the cows than the flies will do, but trials show that there are seldom enough flies on cows in Wisconsin to warrant the use of these heavy oil sprays.

When choosing sprays avoid the highly scented sprays, entomologists caution, since these might taint the milk or the milk products. A spray which contains enough good insecticide is effective even though nearly odorless.

Good sprayers were quite as necessary as good sprays, the test showed.

Table Manners and Sewing Demonstrated At 4-H Club Meeting

Demonstration on correct and incorrect ways of setting a table and conducting oneself at the table were given by teams at the meeting of Happy Hearts 4-H club Tuesday night at the home of Lois Groat, route 3, Appleton. The girls also demonstrated making collars, hems and quick breads. Mothers of the girls were guests at the meeting.

Club camp was discussed, and the group spoke of going to Hortonville Sunday. Games were played and singing took place. The next meeting will be July 27 at the home of Bernice Groat when plans will be made for the club's booth at the Seymour fair.

Reinert 4-H club of route 1, Larsen, met Friday afternoon at the Arthur Selle home with Audrey Butt presiding. Games were played and refreshments served by Mrs. Selle. The next meeting will be held at the Leonard home, Larsen.

Urges Farmers to Cut Weeds at Blossom Time

The never-ending war on weeds was intensified this week with an appeal by the state department of agriculture for Wisconsin farmers to deliver weeds a knockout blow at the blossoming state.

"A patch of Canadian thistles in a grain field or any other place should be cut early enough to prevent seeding," Henry Lunz, inspector in charge of state seed and

County Dairy Day to Be Held on August 5 At Black Creek Park

Saturday, Aug. 5, had been selected for Outagamie County Dairy day which will be held at the Black Creek community park, it was announced today by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

Featuring dairy day will be a dairy cattle exhibit. There will be two judging contests. Another feature of the day will be the selection of the county 4-H dairy queen who will be crowned. She will compete in the state contest at the state fair later in August.

Black Creek merchants have promised to cooperate in the event and plans to provide parking space for hundreds of cars are being made.

Sturgeon Bay Will Be Host at Farmers' Field Day, July 20

Farmers and homemakers of northeastern Wisconsin will attend their annual summer field day at the peninsular branch experiment station, Sturgeon Bay, Thursday, July 20.

An exhibit dealing with a home grown food supply for a family of five, showing the cash saving between farm price and purchase cost which families can effect by careful planning and planting is one of the program features for homemakers. Meeting with the homemakers will be members of the home economics staff of the college of agriculture.

Dean Chris L. Christensen of the college of agriculture will speak to the farmers on farming problems. Farmers who have troublesome weeds or insect pests have been invited to bring specimens with them for examination.

Sasman Will Conduct Three Farm Auctions

Three farm auctions will be held in the Appleton area next week. M. J. Sasman will be the auctioneer at a sale at 10 o'clock Tuesday at the Matt Werner farm three miles north of Black Creek. He also will conduct an auction at 12:30 Wednesday afternoon at the Leonard Cherek farm a half mile west of Berent on County Trunk K. He will be in charge of a third auction at 12:30 Thursday afternoon at the Eldor Seehawer farm two miles northwest at Hortonville on Highway 45 and then 2 of a mile east.

weed control, urged in sounding a call for immediate action. "After seed has matured, it is of little use to cut the plant."

Offer Free Poison to Fight Grasshoppers In Winnebago County

Neenah—Free grasshopper bait still is available to all townships of Winnebago county at the old highway garage on Wisconsin avenue in Oshkosh, according to Robert C. Heffernan, Winnebago county agricultural agent.

Investigation of results obtained with the poison on one Winnebago county farm showed approximately 175 dead grasshoppers to the square yard. Best results are gotten from applying the bait at the rate of from 20 to 30 pounds per acre.

The best time for application of the bait is between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning, according to the county agent, as the feeding time is between 6 and 9 o'clock in the morning. The county agent urged that the bait be distributed before the mating and egg-laying season of the grasshoppers starts.

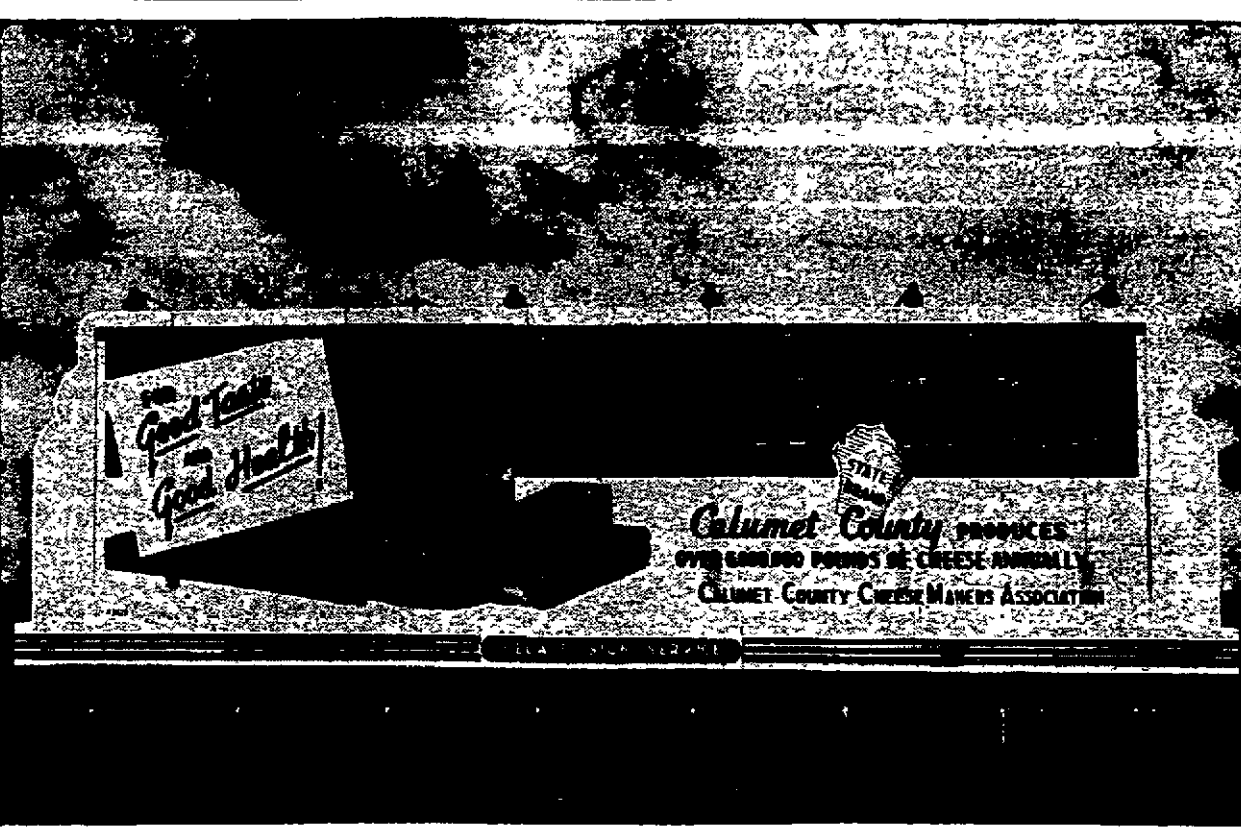

The bait mixing station is open from 8 o'clock in the morning to 4:30 in the afternoon daily. Farmers are asked to bring their own bur-lap bags for carrying the bait.

Warn County Farmers To Meet AAA Orders

Menasha—Farmers of Winnebago county were warned today by the county office of the Soil Conservation association in regard to cutting grain for hay. Many farmers will find it necessary to cut some grain in order to comply with their grain allotments. Because the grain is ripening fast, it must be cut immediately in order to comply with the agricultural act provisions.

Farmers who intend to cut grain for hay are requested to notify their farm reporter or the county soil conservation office of such performance.

D.H.A. PICNIC
Menasha—The summer picnic of the combined Dairy Herd Improvement associations of Winnebago county will be held Sunday, Aug. 20, at the village park at Oshkosh, according to Robert C. Heffernan, Winnebago county agricultural agent. Fieldmen and members of all five of the Winnebago county associations will attend the picnic.

CALUMET CHEESEMAKERS ERECT HUGE BILLBOARD
This new 18 by 54 bulletin, advertising Wisconsin cheese was recently erected at the junction of Highways 57 and 10, north of Hilbert by the Calumet County Cheesemakers association. The sign is made of steel and is hand painted, the only one of its size in the state. It is lighted each night and has attracted the attention and comments of numerous tourists. The bulletin was paid for by funds raised through the annual Calumet County Cheesemakers picnics.

Schedule Two Meetings For Farmers of County At Oshkosh Next Week

Menasha—Two important meetings for Winnebago county farmers will be held next week at the county agent's office in Oshkosh, according to Robert C. Heffernan, Winnebago county agricultural agent.

Monday night all stallion owners of the county have been asked to meet to discuss the possibility of a colt and horse show for Winnebago county this fall. Valuable cash prizes and ribbons are offered by the Wisconsin Horse Breeders association to counties that hold a horse show. The meeting will start at 8:15 Monday night.

Tuesday night the swine breeders of the county will meet to lay plans for the fall boar sale and winter bred gilt sale. Both meetings are open to anyone interested in attending.

PROFITABLE FLOWING
Scottsville, Ky. — (P) — Farmer Kinley Horn noticed his plow turned up a piece of metal. He examined more closely and found it was an 1818 fifty-cent coin.

WHEN THE COUNTRY GETS SORE

We should not permit ourselves to forget, now that democracy is under bitter and concerted attack from within as well as without, that only seven years ago the Federal Kidnaping Law was adopted to deal with the most dark and brutal situation which ever developed in this country during a few years. Since the adoption of that law but 156 kidnaping cases have occurred, the number per annum swiftly lessening as the deadly work of the FBI toppled over the cocksureness of the yellow characters who were willing to stoop to the most bestial cruelty for an easy, unearned living.

Of these 156 cases 154 have been solved, accessories wiped out, and the files marked closed. In Mr. Hoover's recent summary he said that every miscreant in these 154 cases is dead or in prison. He characterized them as including on their outskirts a motley array of "crooked lawyers, gang doctors, money changers, finger men, fixers, harborers of criminals."

But with this splendid and extraordinary record Mr. Hoover is still unsatisfied. There is the murderer of the Levine boy near New York and the atrocity of the Mattson boy at Tacoma. The bloodhound of the law have never quit seeking these jungle laws. And they never will. The scent may become stale but the department is thereby only moved to greater and more intensive effort. And because of its exceptional record kidnaping, that was almost a daily affair previously, has been as nearly obliterated as one crime may ever be.

We point to this record to indicate the possibilities of a democracy. We regret we cannot point to other records that might, with similar public support, be easily constructed.

Yet no more fatal blunder could occur than the conclusion which seems to arise in some quarters that a democracy is a gawky, slow witted and bumbling creature that may be easily out-distanced by any sort of sly or crafty movement. Democracy is merely too slow to become aroused. It may be an inherent condition of low blood pressure and nerves in relaxation. But whether it be a war on crime, a war on autocratic trespassers or a war on Utopian planners, when the conclusion is reached that it is time to move, the speed and directness of that movement will leave nothing to the imagination.

STARS FELL ON OREGON

The meteor which aroused Portland on the Pacific was a titan in comparison to the hundreds of millions of meteors a day which, according to astronomers, enter the earth's atmosphere only to be destroyed.

The Portland meteor exploded, which is according to rule, and scattered its fragments over the countryside where the curious are still picking them up.

The number of meteors of sufficient size to strike the earth and do appreciable harm is very small. Some 30 years ago a gigantic meteor fell in Siberia and left its scar upon the land far and wide. It tore several thousand square miles of forest as if a gigantic airplane had been lost its way and was crashing to destruction. Hundreds of reindeer were killed by it and an important river altered for some extent in its course.

The earth's atmosphere is its protecting armor. The elements of which that atmosphere is composed appear to have no friendliness toward meteors. But both the Portland and the Siberian experiences indicate the vast possibilities and that though we do not cringe but stand erect as our Maker made us we are but trivial pawns in a tremendous scheme of affairs, so gigantic in proportions and so far-reaching in extent that all the wilder human imaginations put together could not even draw a good picture of it.

The great consolation is that in proportion to the size of the universe—even that limited universe of which we know—the earth is about as small as a pin prick in its surface is to it. Our gamblers and our mathematicians might figure out from that the chances of survival. And they would be so great, and therefore the danger so insignificant, that we can appropriately spend the major part of our time after the day's work is through in sizing up the Wisconsin legislature and the American congress, and giving Danzig one quick look before retiring for the night.

WOULD A CONFERENCE SAVE THE WORLD?

A week ago at Cardiff Prime Minister Chamberlain put the quarrel with Germany this way:

"What we are resolved to oppose is the use of force to bring about changes which should be determined by discussion and cooperation."

This language conveys about the thought Mr. Roosevelt expressed to Herr Hitler some weeks ago. What is there to it? Is it a fair statement or is it a foolery? What chance has Germany of securing what belongs to her in the manner suggested? Poland already has said that she, the most interested country in the attempt to regain Danzig, will fight if that German city attempts to return to the sovereignty of the Reich. England and France have attempted to convey to Germany the direct idea that they will join upon the side of Poland. It is to be noted however, they leave the usual door open when they say they will fight "if Poland's independence is threatened."

Would not Germany call for a conference if there was any good reason to believe she could gain Danzig in that manner? We at least give Hitler sufficient credit for desiring to avoid a war with any of the great powers. He is just as much afraid of war as Russia. War has a peculiar way of crumbling dictators into the dust.

Not long ago German statesmen demanded of Britain that she return the former German colonies. British statesmen immediately said they couldn't return them because the people who lived in them wanted to stay with Britain.

It may be that the Reich is too proud to go into a conference and too haughty to bend the knee.

But in respect to the thoroughly German city of Danzig and the German colonies that had come to the Reich in peaceful manner talk of a conference is a matter of manners and one of the best rules of good deportment is for those who have something that doesn't belong to them to return that something to its rightful owner.

The other day at London Dean Inge, called the gloomy dean, had this to say about the situation:

"The treaty of Versailles had to be revised, with or without war. Hitler is trying to do it without war. He cannot be allowed to have everything his own way. But are we going to fight about Danzig, a thoroughly German town which never ought to have been separated from the Reich? Things which we hate in Germany are largely the creation of the Allies, especially France, after the peace."

But whatever decent or natural right exists in Germany to have Danzig and her colonies back are we to understand from Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Roosevelt that the whole decision of war depends upon whether Germany has the politeness to ask in the courtly language of diplomacy for what was taken by force from her, or whether those who are now in possession of her property have the politeness to tender it to her without embroiling the world in war?

Why write about the Japs and Chinamen doing so many things "to save face"? The greatest face savers in the world are in Europe today. According to their own confessions they need nothing so much as the spirit of Gaston and Alphonse.

"AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERS" AROUND THEIR NECKS

Out of the nation's capital certain high-salaried members of the Department of Agriculture are travelling far and wide to bring our peasants, who were known as farmers before the operation of the Great Humanitarian, certain messages of help, hope and sustenance.

These gentlemen are given the high-falutin title of "agricultural engineers."

One of them who travelled to the now backward state of Minnesota advised dairymen there that their next step in modern farming involved air-conditioned barns which would pay great dividends since the cows, highly intelligent creatures that they are, would double their milk production just to show their appreciation.

It is not clear whether the "agricultural engineer" who spoke in Minnesota had been somehow "teched" beforehand to secure his position or whether the Minnesota heat had laid him low but he failed to emphasize the greater gain to the farmer from his proposal since it must involve the closing off of all pastures as altogether too hot for bossy. The farmer will be just the crop raised on that pasture ahead of the present parade. Bossy will have a nice time staying in the barn all day. And as for the $5000 or more which it would now cost to air-condition the barn, only a black reactionary, or perhaps a Fascist, but never a Communist, would bring that up.

In the sweet by and by when we have dear old Quoddy harnessed up to the tides and the moon at work aplenty there will be no operating charge for the electric juice to run the air-conditioner. Then the only trouble on the farmers' horizon will be the bitter squabble between the help and the members of the family for the privilege of sitting on a stool milking the cows to some jazz tune.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New Bedford, Mass.—How pale are the exploits of the adventures of our day compared with those daredevils who gave New Bedford her greatest glory—the whalers!

Other sailors used to look down on whalers; "blubber fishermen," they called them. It was a stinking business, what with cutting up whale carcasses and men slaving frantically on decks that were the mammals' abattoir. Most sailors preferred shipping on cargo ships that carried them to the world's glamor ports for tea or hemp or lumber. The truth is, whaling was the sea's greatest thrill because it was the sea's greatest danger.

Here in New Bedford is the world's great monument to New England's "blubber fishermen." It is a Museum in which is told the story of whaling—the industry which carried New Bedford to her greatest glory. Here, in a great room of the Museum, is a half size copy of a whaling ship, complete even to the details of supplies in the galley and canvas furled to the spars.

The whalers are all gone—all but a few. Captain Sherman, who was master of a whaler, still lives, in his nineties; and old Captain Manley, too. They are the only ones. Here and there through New England there are old sailors who made one or two whaling voyages; but the captains, those fellows who drove their barks into the Arctic, got frozen in the ice, and challenged the whales not with guns but virtually hand to hand, are all but gone.

If ever a seafaring folk lived who could claim the right to be truly called rulers of the sea they must have been the blubber fishermen. No fancy white sailor suits for them! No steam-heated quarters, no fussy food, and not even much of a wage. I talked with one old fellow who signed on a whaler for $5 a month. Twenty dollars a month was almost fantastic.

Ed Pierce, who shows people around the Museum here, showed me pictures and captains' logs that told matter-of-factly of whaling adventures which would be incredible today. He told how men would put out in a small boat and come up beside a whale, and how the harpoon man would plunge the barbed steel weapon into the whale's body. "It had to be just in the right place," Mr. Pierce said, "and many a small boat has been capsized and its men lost when the whale slapped with its tail."

New Bedford is today a hustling New England city, but the Museum is virtually the only remaining reminder of its greatest glory as the seat of the whaling industry. The middle of the last century was whaling's heyday. The year 1846 saw 736 whaling ships working out of American ports, most of them from New Bedford. Today there aren't more than 50 American vessels in the whale trade.

I have sat often and listened open-mouthed to Old Soldiers recounting their battlefield bravery, but the tales a garrulous blubber fisherman can recite make war sound as tame as Mary's Little Lamb. Shipwrecks, fights with knives or whaler-one-can-lay-hand-to, storms that all but rip the ship asunder, struggles in which whales take small boats, filled with men, in their huge jaws, crushing them—such are the stories the whalers tell.

The seafaring spirit, once as much of New England as its early American traditions, seems to have dwindled. Descendants of seamen have become shore landlubbers. They do not seem to have nearly as fluent a flow of cuss words, or as positive dispositions as those old Gentlemen of the Sea who feared neither nor easterlies nor the Devil—Old Gentlemen who lived the Hard Way and were proud of it.

Men still follow the sea. They go forth with their nests to fish. But these, with few exceptions, are not the descendants of New Bedford's whaling aristocracy. Men from Europe's Latin countries do much of the seagoing nowadays. They have little knowledge of sailors' knots, of navigating, of seamanship. They start the motor and chug out to sea. "Ninety per cent of them fellows," one old sailor told me, "can't even tell what star to take a sight by."

And the irony is that one little 1939 fisherman will make more money in a week than the hardest old-timer ever made in a year.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO
Friday, July 12, 1929

Locking two employees and two customers in a vault, a trio of bank robbers scooped up $14,000 in cash at the Dale First National bank at 2:30 that afternoon and made their getaway in a touring car. They fled toward Appleton on Highway 10. It was the second time the Dale bank had been robbed in three years. The last time a lone robber secured $4,000.

Chester Hopper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hopper, Washington street, Neenah, who had been in the east for two years, had joined the United States coast guard and was on a 90-day trip to the West Indies as a wireless operator on the cutter "Mendota."

Harold Landgraf, Menasha, was reelected president of the Winnebago County Bankers association Thursday evening at the annual meeting in Oshkosh. H. C. Chilton, Neenah, was reelected vice president.

25 YEARS AGO
Friday, July 17, 1914

Plans for the new Appleton Volksbund building were in the hands of architect Herman Wildhagen and R. J. Meyer announced construction would start soon. The new building, erected on the site of the Appleton Carriage Works, was to be a two-story building and Morrison streets. The structure was to cost about $25,000. Meyer was the business manager and Carl Seeger was editor.

The Wisconsin amateur swimming championship was expected to be brought to Appleton by Oscar Kunitz who had entered the annual river marathon which was to be held at Milwaukee in August. The race was to be over a mile and a half course upstream. Five Chicagoans finished ahead of Kunitz the previous year but in 1914 only Wisconsin residents were to be eligible. Oswald Rolfs and O. Johnson of Appleton also had entered the event.

Organized efforts to control hog cholera in Wisconsin had started with a federal agricultural expert assigned to fight the disease in this state.

She catches her look, kind and wise,
In drifting starlight, and she sees
Her mother's dear familiar guise
Above the sleeping moon-drenched trees.

She called her mother "guiding star,"
Before she went so far away.
She knows where mothers are.
They are just near enough to pray
For children who must cease their play
To dream a little while of her.

Where the first sunbeams wake and stir,
All day there is the world to face,
And busy hours that must be wound
Upon the spools of time. The place
For quiet grief cannot be found.
But when night falls, and stars abound,
Her mother comes in the low light
Of summer wind, and every sound
And sight beneath the lonely sky.

Ellis Island once was famous as a place where pirates were hanged and for years was called Gibbets Island for that reason.

A Bystander In Washington

BY REAR ADMIRAL EMORY S. LAND, RETIRED

Washington—In my state of Wyoming a cattleman should not allow himself to be without two essential weapons; a gun and a horse.

Few persons will question the need of a gun. The gun protects the herd against predatory animals. The horse, on the other hand, is not ordinarily considered a weapon. To most of us a horse is a prosaic, everyday beast of burden whose value lies solely in the fact that he can carry a cowhand around the range and to town and back on Saturday night.

But the horse is a vital part of the cowhand's program for defending and protecting the herd. Without the horse, the gun would be valueless. Without the horse, the cowhand could not get within range of the mountain lion.

In the protection of the United States against potential or actual foreign marauders, the merchant fleet is a prosaic, familiar beast of burden that becomes indispensable.

The maritime commission, at the direction of Congress, is now engaged in strengthening the American merchant fleet.

Defensive measures are not always military. An efficient merchant fleet has an even greater defensive value in making it possible for this country to sell its goods abroad and to bring in the goods of other nations.

The United States needs sugar and rubber, cotton and tin, and other foreign products. Large sections of our country experience prosperity only if their major product can be sold abroad. The Merchant Marine Act of 1936, which created the maritime commission, set up as one of the prime policies for the commission the fostering of our export and import trade.

Because it is necessary to have good ships, with good technical equipment, the American people through their government are spending substantial sums of money. In order to give American labor and American industry this work, the people are spending more for these ships than they would have to spend if they were built abroad at lower prices or with fewer safety devices.

The American people do not lose this money. The Maritime Commission's construction program will have put into pay envelopes of shipyard workers about $140,000,000 between January 1, 1939, and the end of the next fiscal year. It will at the same time have resulted in purchases of material amounting to approximately $175,000,000. It will have been the means of paying overheads and profits of the amount of some $78,000,000.

But, in addition to this, we can get our return by traveling and shipping on American-flag ships. In this way we can get the fine service which is being provided on American vessels and we can make it less expensive to operate them, thus making it less necessary for them to be subsidized.

Heil's office of a chart of budget figures attempting to show that the Heil budget for normal state operations is lower than that of any preceding administration in this decade.

It means that the public criticism against the size of the Heil budget and the talk of new taxes has registered in the executive office. It means that the Heil people want to explain their case—their financial circumstances—something which they have not designed to do before this time.

It also illustrates what this column has often commented upon, the fetish that money sent back to localities for various purposes should not be considered as state expense.

The chart of figures released by Heil's office points out that the reason the total budget appropriations of the administration are higher than preceding administrations is that more money is sent back to local governmental subdivisions.

As has frequently been said, such rebates to localities are supposed to be for local tax relief, but the instances have yet to be brought out in which local tax reductions have actually been accomplished by such means.

Governors and legislatures vie with each other in sending more and more money back to cities, towns, and counties, forgetful apparently, that such funds must also be raised by taxes. Sometimes an administration may appear which will economize not only in state operations, but also in state aids. Then and then only will state taxes have a chance to be reduced. For the present, state taxes will inevitably be increased.

FARM THOUGHTS
Although they don't say much about it, some of the legislative Republican leaders are conscious of the fact that their farm program thus far in the session has been conspicuous for its absence.

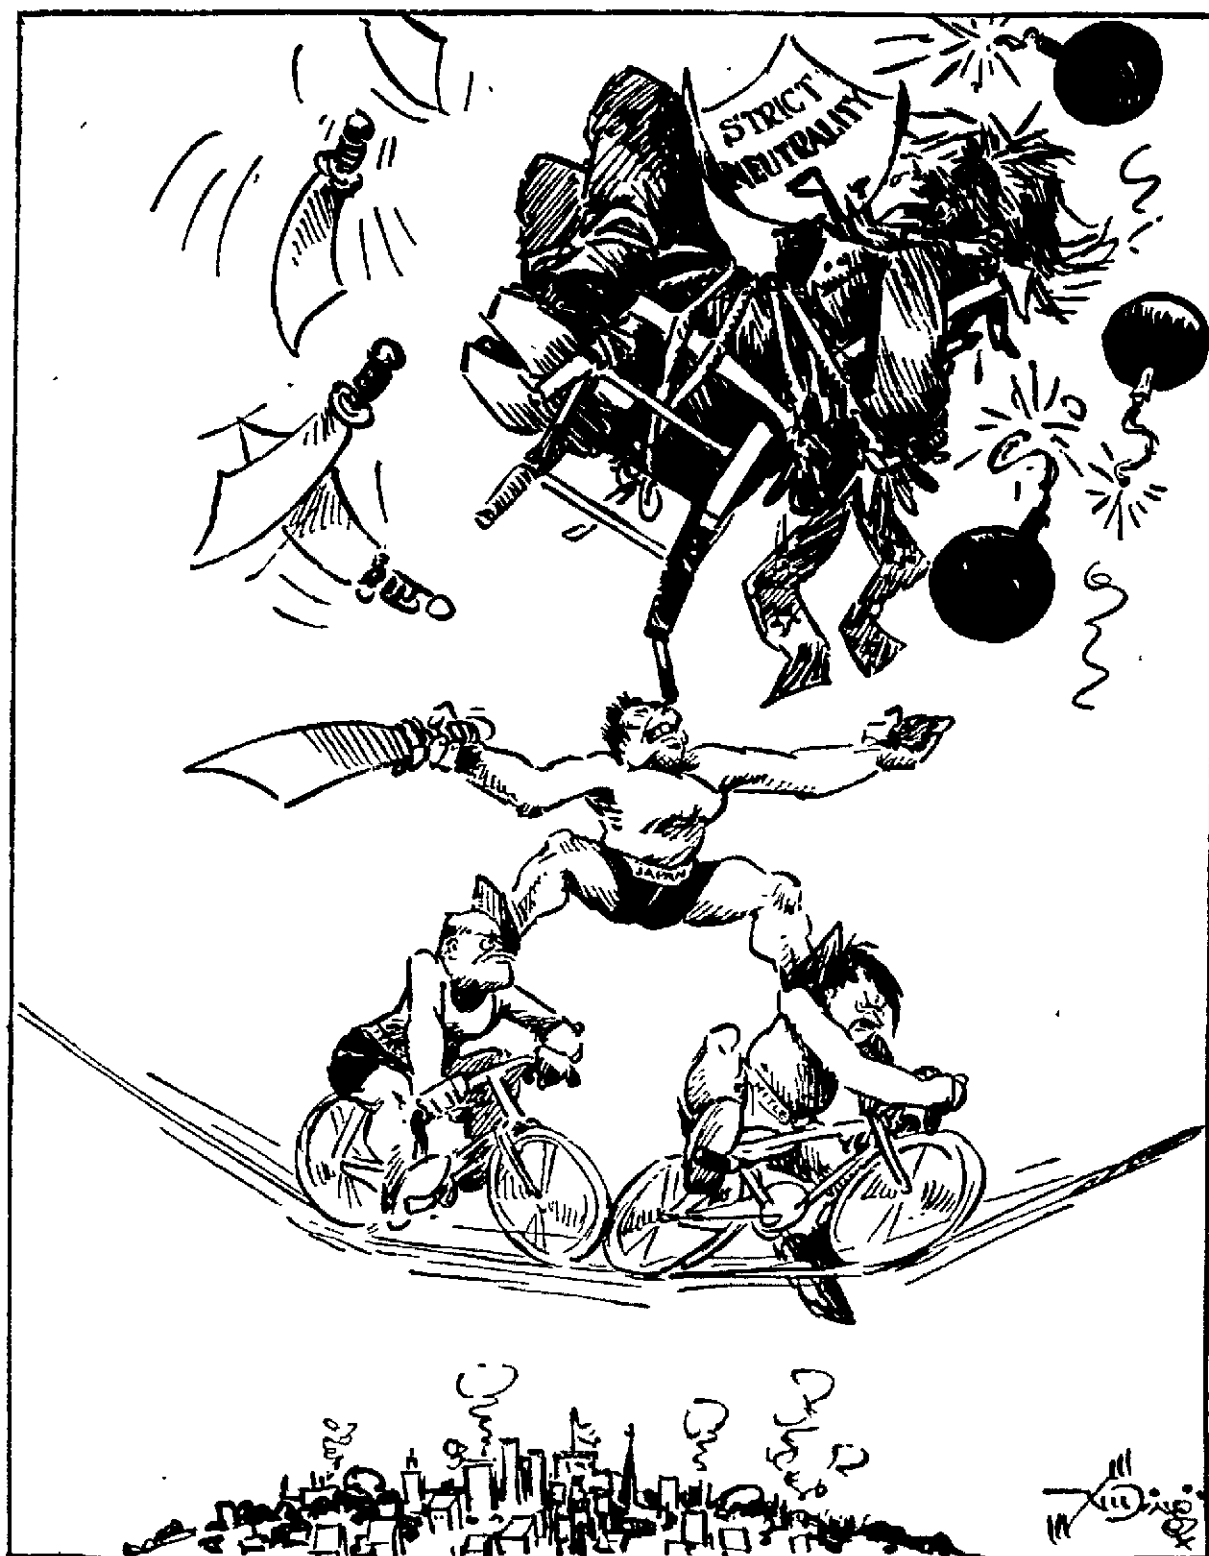

Doubtless there was rural support for the administration's labor program, but that can only be considered as legislation for the farmers in a negative sense.

Now it appears that the key of the Republican attempts to hold farm support will be the biggest dairy advertising program which Wisconsin has yet seen.

Led by Heil and his fervid enthusiasm for milk promotion, the administration will spend thousands of dollars in a flashy, dramatic attempt to merchandise milk, butter, cheese, and other products.

Although farm economists may consider their plan rather shaky, their idea is that by forcing an increase in the sale of bottle milk to make a dent on the dairy manure in the consumption of fluid milk, the surplus problem in the butter and cheese markets will be lessened. A rise of a cent a pound in the price of cheese, it has often been remarked, means millions of

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

SENSE AND NONSENSE ABOUT DIETING

Dieting to any man connotes limiting the intake of nutriment for the purpose of reducing. But actually that is only one of many purposes of dieting.

Whatever the purpose of a prescribed, restricted or regulated diet may be, modern knowledge of nutrition warrants the practice, now followed by all progressive physicians, of supplementing the diet with adequate amounts of vitamins, especially vitamin B-complex, vitamin C and vitamin D.

This is important in cases of peptic ulcer and colitis, but neglect of it accounts for much of the serious impairment of health of persons who restrict their diet for the purpose of reducing.

From inquiries received I infer that the belief is prevalent that certain foods if taken regularly reduce superfluous flesh, notably lemon juice. Lemon juice yields approximately 12 calories to the ounce, compared with orange juice which yields 16 calories to the ounce, prune juice 36 calories to the ounce, and grape juice 18 calories to the ounce.

Strawberry juice and lemon juice are nearly equal in caloric or nutritive value. Strawberry juice is nearly equal in caloric or nutritive value, strawberry juice if anything averages less than lemon juice. So it is absurd to imagine lemon juice reduces; it is merely less nourishing less fattening if you please, than wine, beer, and various sweetened fountain beverages.

Probably due to popular credulity in regard to Hollywood hokum many persons believe lamb chop and pineapple has some mysterious virtue as a reducing combination. In fact broiled lamb chop yields 105 calories to the ounce, compared with beefsteak which averages 75 calories to the ounce. Pineapple yields approximately 38 calories to the ounce, compared with peaches 12 calories, cantaloup 12 calories, apple 18 calories, banana 28 calories, grapes 27 calories, and strawberries 11 calories to the ounce.

It should be evident to the adult mind that keeping slim or reducing is not a question of what you eat, but rather a question of the total caloric value of your day's intake against the calories used or burned to supply your muscular energy, heat and vital functions.

The quant practice of "dieting" by excluding items you imagine are "fattening" and taking only foods you imagine are "not fattening" is not only futile but, if you follow such a plan for any length of time it is quite likely to wreck your health whether you reduce or not.

One of the strange popular fallacies regarding "fattening" foods is that potatoes must be excluded from the diet if you want to remain slender or reduce.

the people to do something about a proposed tax that would soon be imposed on theater goes through each ticket that was sold. Of course it would be the people that would pay this tax, not the theater owners or motion picture magnates. Furthermore, it was brought out that the only way we could kill this tax was by calling our local representative and see if enough good lobbying could be done to stop it.

Why was this thrown on the screen? Not because the picture companies had thought of the theater goes pocket books but of their own. Why can't we see deeper than the mere surface. Not that the theaters were not doing a commendable thing when they flashed this propaganda on the screen but that it symbolizes a decaying portion of our Democracy that is slowly but surely eating away the foundation upon which it stands, leaving it tottering closer to the brink of the dark gulf of "isms" which at the present time are gnawing safely and industriously away in our granaries of self complacency. Each and every one of us knows what happens when our budget doubles and triples itself. We have to make more money to cover it and there isn't a one of us who does not know what happens when we live over our budget for one year, the next year we must not only make more money but must use less in order to break even.

Today a person does not have to be conservative to tell what is happening to the U. S. If we were taxed right now in proportion to our national debt, we would come close to having a political revolution. If this would happen now in order to balance our national budget, what do you think will happen to our Democracy, 1-2-3-4 or a dozen years from now, when this thing will have to be faced. Folks, our Democracy is not old and our Constitution is not in need of remodeling. But we must get back to the standard where expenditures such as P. W. A. A. A. and all the other alphabetical debt makers are under control of the people instead of the people being under their control.

If you had a gas stove that you had to drop a quarter in every time you used so much gas and you finally run out of work, what would have to be faced. Folks, you do you do? You would either get a cheaper stove or borrow money. Getting a cheaper stove would naturally be the best plan unless you could guarantee yourself that you would be able to pay in a short time. There is an old adage that says what an individual puts into life, he gets out. Then why can't we say in conclusion that what we get out of life over and above what we put in must be paid back and make this our slogan so the "isms" in our granaries will be staved and the decaying foundations of our Democracy be petrified into marble.

Labor Relations Board Can't Pat Itself on the Back Yet

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
New York—It was damned nice of the labor relations board to restore to American citizens who employ workmen their constitutional right to "petition the government for redress of grievances," but a few more gracious concessions must be made before employers and workmen, both may consider themselves safe from the tyranny of the board and the vicious dictatorships which the board has fostered in labor unions.

Employers still lack the right to speak freely—a right specifically granted by the constitution but suspended by the board with the casual high-handedness of a Soviet court deciding to knock off a handful of political dissenters—and Americans who prefer not to belong to labor unions and thus pay cash tribute out of their wages to the funds of the New Deal, the Spanish communists or the communists' conspiracy against the United States may be compelled to join up and pay or forfeit their right to work for a living in their own country.

An alien with hatred in his heart and soul for everything that is American, by subscribing to union policies and contributing to union funds, which then vanish into activities that strike at the American form of government, may acquire the power to vote away a native American's right to earn his living in a land for which he can be compelled to fight while the alien sits it out.

And the board has done nothing noticeable as yet to curb fiendish acts of coercion by which labor racketeers with a strike on their hands, even a strike manipulated solely for the extension of individual power, may terrorize the families of American citizens who stand on their right to retain their jobs. The employer may not even speak a word of sympathy to a persecuted American citizen who has the courage to oppose the labor racketeers, for that would be a co-servant attempt to influence the worker. But the union may throw rocks through windows of his home, gang him on his way to and from work, beat his head off at the picket line, insult and maul his wife and terrorize his children, and when the strike is won by such methods, may blackmail him from his occupation for the rest of his life. That is fair union practice on the part of the union regardless of the individual's standing as a citizen, his record of service to his country's wars or the contrast between his character and that of the union leader in command of the machine or racket.

Employers Deprived Of Natural Privilege
The effort of the board in abolishing the dictatorial decree the employer's right to discuss union matters with men in his employ on the ground that he might be trying to coerce them has never been sufficiently appreciated. Here was an outright abrogation of a sub-department of the government of a right which the government itself protects with the mad-eyed fury of an avenger when the complaint comes from the saboteur, and the abrogation of this right of American citizens in these circumstances has been followed by rulings that it was unfair labor practice on the part of an employer even to send an employee a document criticizing union tactics through James A. Farley's mails.

The union, however, may circulate among the employees the most scurrilous libel and misrepresentation of the facts of a controversy with intent to influence them by a deceit or to ship them into submission by threats of terror. There is no established limit to the coercion that may be practiced on workmen by the union, and not even the faintest pretense has been made of an attempt to restrain strike promoters and closed shop racketeers from the use of moral, physical and economic intimidation.

Non-Union Workers Lack Means To Protest
The fake cry that unionism represents labor is accepted by the public with no really audible dissent, because those who refuse to join unions, or do join them under silent protest, have lacked a means of presenting their case. The employer and the labor faker can make themselves heard, but the persecuted individuals in the middle receive no hearing from the public and no respect from a government board which was established for the frank purpose of assisting organized labor. Men who rebel at union extortions and job trusts and suffer from union politics have no protection from practices and rules which are no less ruthless than those which industry was accused of and equally destructive of their rights as American citizens.

These are a few little wrinkles in labor administration which might be ironed out before the labor relations board can sit back and sprinkle itself with praise for guarding the sacred rights of labor.

Italian Art Works Are Given to Nation

Washington — (P) — Samuel H. Kress, New York merchant, has given the nation a collection of Italian painting and sculpture valued by experts at between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Trustees of the new national gallery of art accepted the gift Wednesday, and President Roosevelt announced it as a "decided step in the true purpose" of the gallery.

The $15,000,000 gallery is being erected with funds provided by the late Andrew W. Mellon. Mellon donated also his collection of old masters valued at $50,000,000 and expressed hope others would give their art treasures for the gallery.

Stops Cold Beer Sale Under Class A Permit

City Clerk Carl J. Becker said today he has notified all holders of Class A beer licenses in Appleton to stop selling refrigerated beer. The clerk said he was asked to send the notices by John Roach, head of the state beverage tax enforcement division.

The state law prohibits the holders of Class A licenses from selling cold beer in competition with the holders of more expensive types of licenses. The permit allows the holder to sell beer by the bottle to be consumed away from the premises.

Slam Missed As Result of 4-Spade Jump

BY ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: A group of eight of us suburbanites sneak off from our wives every other Tuesday for a session of team-of-four duplicate. One board last Tuesday cost our side a 1,500 point swing. Here is the hand:

"South, dealer.
"North-South vulnerable

*The bidding:
South West North East

Pass Pass 4 spades Pass

"The king of diamonds was opened and 1 (South) had no trouble taking thirteen tricks, since the outstanding trumps broke 2-2, and the clubs were no worse than 4-2.

"Both my partner and I own your Gold Book and attempt to use your bidding system. We do, however, use the Blackwood no trump convention for slam bidding.

"Will you please state on whom the major blame rests for our failure to arrive at any slam contract, also, how seriously South must be charged for timidity.

R. S., New York."

First, let us dispose of a grand slam as the proper contract for the North-South hands. Though my correspondent easily made thirteen tricks in the play, he owed his success to a rather fortunate break of cards. As every one knows, grand slams should be better than 2-1 proposition. It is a fact, however, that a small slam should have been reached and that the blame for failing to reach it must be shared by both partners.

My first criticism of the bidding, although a comparatively mild one, falls on North for his double of one diamond. He was vulnerable, whereas the diamond bidder was not. Despite North's length in diamonds, he held only one sure trick in the suit—not enough to visualize the slaughter of a mere one contract, not vulnerable. A spade bid would be preferable to the double. However, North's choice was not very bad and should not have interfered with his team's reaching the proper contract. South, void of diamonds, was, of course, correct to take out the double, and his one spade bid was logical. Now we come to the first really crucial point: North's jump to four spades. Although this was a strong bid, it did not fully represent North's trick-taking potentialities. When South took out the diamond double to a spade, North should have realized that a spade slam would be a very close thing and that five-odd would be virtually a certainty. Since no expressive orthodox bid was available, North should have grasped the occasion to use a makeshift that would at once guarantee another bid from partner and, at the same time, express North's great playing strength. That makeshift would be three hearts. South would respond with four hearts and North then should jump to five spades. After that it would require no courage on South's part to go to six spades (or if South bid six hearts North, of course, would bid six spades).

Even on the actual bidding, however, South might well have investigated a slam. With North's terrific jump in spades, South would have felt that a five contract would be safe—it would be remarkable, indeed, if South had to lose three heart tricks at the start. Thus, with courage and imagination, South might have risked four no trump as a slam try and after that it would be North who would eventually go to six spades.

RUG WASHING DAYS
Pick a windy, warm day on which to wash rugs—they'll dry quicker. Thoroughly launder the rugs in three lukewarm, soapy waters and rinse them three times through lukewarm, clear water. Rinsing is very important. Hang them in the shade, pinning them tightly to the line every two inches. This helps keep the edges straight.

Hot deviled eggs make a novelty for the canapè tray. Stuff hard-cooked egg halves with a mixture of relish and the yolks. Arrange each half on a small triangle of buttered toast and top it with a square of bacon. Broil or bake until the bacon is crisp. Then serve immediately.

LUNCHEON OR SUPPER

A soup salad and dessert menu. Three dishes only—but so perfectly planned and served that they constitute a fully satisfying, thoroughly delicious meal. This soup, salad, and dessert idea is a smartly modern.

And what a help on a busy day. Corn soup is always completely satisfying as the main course for a luncheon or supper. At this time of the year when vegetables are at their best, no menu need suffer from lack of variety. A mixed vegetable salad served in crisp lettuce cups with French dressing is ideal. For dessert, cherry kuchen, with juicy cherries baked or top of a quick coffee cake.

THE MENU
Corn Soup Wafers
Vegetable Salad
Cherry Kuchen

Corn Soup
1 can corn, 1 tsp. salt, cream style, 1 cup rich milk, 2 cups milk, 2 tsp. butter, 1 small onion, 2 tsp. flour, 2 stalks celery, 1 cup well seasoned chicken stock.

Cook corn, onion, celery, and parsley slowly 1 hour. Remove celery, parsley, and onion. Strain, rubbing as much corn as possible through the sieve. Melt butter, add flour, and cook until blended. Gradually add the rich milk and chicken stock. Cook until thickened and then add strained corn. Put a spoonful of whipped cream on each cup of soup. Serves 8.

Vegetable Salad
1 cup peas, 12 little green cut in strips, 1 cup beets, 1 cup string, 1 cup beans, cut lengthwise.

Cook each vegetable separately. Drain and chill. Marinate with French dressing and arrange on crisp lettuce.

Cherry Kuchen
1 cup flour, 1 egg, 1 cup sugar, 2 tbs. milk, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. melted butter, Pinch of salt, 1 cup bread crumbs.

Mix and sift the flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Beat the egg, add the milk and add to the dry ingredients together with the melted butter. Mix lightly and toss into a slightly floured board. Roll out to about 1 inch in thickness and shape into a shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and spread the pitted cherries evenly over the bottom. Sprinkle the sugar over the cherries. Beat the egg yolk until thick and then beat in the cream. Pour this over the sugar and cherries. Bake in a hot oven 400 degrees F. until the crust is just beginning to brown, then reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and continue baking for 20 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Do you think that Melba was hypnotized? Would you advise me to testify in this case in order to break her slavery to the man who dominated her at the jewelry shop? Be sure to paste this Case Record in your scrapbook, and commend your progressive school officials who are initiating the new high school courses in domestic psychology.

CASE N-189: Melba Z., aged 23, is a chorus girl.

"I am defending her in an attempt to break a contract which she made with a local jeweler," her attorney called me on the phone.

"In order to establish that duress was used, I want a psychologist to testify regarding the hypnosis that must have been employed on this girl.

"Although she is earning but $18 a week, she bought $250 worth of jewelry. I maintain that the girl was hypnotized into signing up for that amount.

"She fell in love with a diamond cross, which she bought for her mother, and some other jewelry for her younger sister.

"The jeweler knew her financial condition, and yet sold her the merchandise. Would you let me call you, Dr. Crane, for expert testimony regarding the case?"

DIAGNOSIS:
No, I did not consent to testify in this case. If this girl was hypnotized, so probably are 9 out of 10 people who buy, for the process of selling is really a first cousin to hypnosis in that the buyer's attention is so completely focussed on the merchandise that he is often oblivious of other practical considerations.

Children are notable examples of easy marks, for they think in terms of the present, and with difficulty can imagine the future difficulties in meeting deferred payments.

Melba isn't particularly intelligent, as her attorney admitted. He confessed that she was pretty dumb mentally, which is one reason she reacted childishly and contracted for luxuries far beyond her ability to pay.

An Intelligence Test
When people get themselves into such dilemmas, it usually indicates either lack of social experience or lack of intelligence. Feeble-minded adults and children will often get into Melba's scrape, but experienced and intelligent adults rarely do so.

Look around your neighborhood, or even in your immediate family, and you'll see plenty of evidence of such juvenility. In fact, I know college professors of economics who are almost as childish in their financial dealings, despite the fact they authoritatively lecture to their students on how to run big business.

Getting into debt is not an indication of subnormal intelligence or experience, provided a man's credit or ultimate ability to pay is adequate, and the investment is logically sound.

Indeed, the late John D. Rockefeller, Sr., advised young men to go into debt for sound purchases, such as education or a business, for if then made them work diligently to make ends meet, and this process was of great practical and financial value to them in later life.

New Psychology Of Business
In the old days the goal of a salesman was the sale. Nowadays, the modern salesman is more interested in procuring a satisfied customer.

Apparently, this jeweler is of the old school, for he oversold the customer, and certainly realized this fact when he was procuring the data for her instance of financing.

His plan, psychologically, would be to cancel the contract upon return of the merchandise in good condition.

He was dealing with an overgrown child, at least in social experience if not in actual mental capacity. The new high school courses in budgeting and marital psychology will do much to eliminate Melba's childishness in handling financial problems.

Dr. Crane will give personal attention to questions on psychological problems. Write him, in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a 3-cent stamp, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover printing and typing costs. Senders and readers' names are never published.

Foolish to Think Marriage Is Death of Romance, Love

BY DOROTHY DIX

One of the greatest fallacies in the world is the belief entertained by so many people that marriage is the death of love, whereas there is something occult about a liaison that keeps love alive. Also, that lovers are more faithful to each other than husbands and wives.

DOROTHY DIX

There is nothing in a showy church wedding that is a guarantee that the high contracting parties won't lose their taste for each other and fight like cat and dog. Neither is there any certainty that the occupants of a love nest won't weary of each other and the married couple's eyes will be out. But the betting odds are 100 to 1 in favor of the married couple.

Guard for fifteen days and I'll get $15 for that. Then I'll get my security money that will be $5 a week for three weeks. I am trying very hard to get any kind of a job so we will be able to get by, but we are going to get married whether I have a job or not. Do you think we will be doing right? At present I am living with my mother and two brothers. My mother is working and making $8 a week, but my brothers haven't worked for quite a while. This is from

AN UNDEEMED BOY.

Answer: I know, that when one is 20 one has the innocence of a child, and as the old song says, "wants to know what he wants when he wants it." He has not learned patience nor how to wait and work for the thing he desires in order that he may have it in perfection and in a way that will bring him happiness. He must have it at once, and so he snatches at what he wants, even though it will bring disaster upon him.

That is the way you are acting about this marriage. You know that there is every reason in the world why you and the girl should not marry now. She is only 16, far too young to marry. So are you for that matter. Neither one of you is old enough to know what real love means or what you will want in a wife or husband when you grow up.

And the chances are that if you marry now you will be divorced before you are 30.

And divorce is always a mess, particularly if there are little children whose lives are ruined by having their homes torn down over their defenseless little heads.

Then you have nothing to marry on. You have no money, no job, no certainty of steady work. You have no way of supporting a family. Believe me, son, no man knows what trouble is until he sees his wife and children with no roof to shelter them, no fire to warm them, no food to eat. No agony can stab a man to the soul like the wait of a hungry baby crying for the milk his father cannot buy him.

Certainly you wouldn't add to the burden of your poor mother, who is already toiling to support two other idle sons, by dumping your wife down on her to feed. Certainly you have too much manhood to marry to marry expecting the government to permanently support you and your family.

So wait until you get on your own feet. Wait until you are a man, capable of assuming a man's responsibilities, before you marry. You will save yourself a lot of grief and sorrow. You do not need to be rich to marry, but you do need some financial security. Just love isn't enough. You and your wife will need food and clothes and shelter just as much after marriage as you do now.

you" said as each one is unwrapped is sufficient. If someone was unable to come to the party and sent a present anyway, then, of course, you thank her either by telephone or note.

10. Are girls of about eight years of age considered a little too old for flower girls?

Answer: This depends on the size of the children and also (which I have never thought about before) upon the size of the others in the wedding party. If the men and girls in the bridal party are all tall, then the flower girls could be taller than would otherwise be possible.

11. Is it necessary for someone to give me away or can I walk down the aisle alone? My mother is a widow.

Answer: You can walk up the aisle alone if there is no man relative or intimate friend of the family to walk with you. And even if a relative or friend does walk with you, your mother can still give her consent from where she stands in the front row.

Details of Preparation for Lunch Party
Dear Mrs. Post: I am giving a lunch party for some visiting friends and would like to give this in a private room of a hotel, instead of at home, because it is difficult having people stay in the house and prepare for a party at the same time. (a) Will this be in good taste? (b) There will be ten at the lunch table and I would like to know if I can set the table with place cards and whether they should be written Mrs. John Visitor or Mary Visitor.

Answer: Perfectly. (c) Yes, they should all be written with titles. The only time place cards are written informally without titles would be at a family party at Christmas or Thanksgiving, for example, when everyone is known to everyone else by first name, i. e., Mother, Fred, Aunt Mary, Uncle John, Lucy, Father, etc.

Napkins At A Tea Party?
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it always necessary to provide tea napkins? That is, at a very big tea party could they be omitted, or could paper ones be provided?

Answer: You should provide linen napkins, but very few will be ample since very few people, if any, ever take one from a tea table. This is one occasion when paper ones should be avoided unless linen ones are not to be had.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

About once a week at least you should set aside a half hour to shampoo your beauty aids—beauty aids such as your brushes, combs, powder puffs and face cloths.

It is quite natural that your hair brush and comb collect grime more quickly during the summer months than during the winter months, and therefore need weekly shampoo. You go around without a head covering more frequently and the winds blow sand and dust into your hair. By brushing and combing each day (which I hope you do) you take this accumulated dirt from your head, but you will not be able to do so unless your brush and comb are clean!

Face cloths are apt to be forgotten. One thinks just because face cloths are in water and lathered each day, when you wash your skin that they automatically keep clean. Not so! Face cloths quickly collect dirt and because they are wet the greater part of the time, they are breeding grounds for microbes! Our skins would be better treated if we used a fresh cloth each time, or learned to use soft bristle complexion brushes which we kept sterilized.

And speaking about brushes. All your brushes need a weekly cleaning. Your bath brushes, your nail brushes, your complexion brush and your hair brush. Wash them in a basin of soapy water to which has been added a teaspoonful of borax and a few drops of a strong germicide. Hold on to the backs and swish the bristles through this solution, rinse well in warm water and then cold water. Do not drain them resting on their backs or bristles. Stand them on their sides, so the water will not run into the roots of the bristles. Or if your brushes have a hole in the handle, tie them on a line and let the air dry them quickly. Do not keep brushes too long in the sun. Fifteen minutes, when dry, should be sufficient.

Powder Puffs
To use a powder puff more than two days at home, or two days in a compact during hot weather, is flirting with minor skin blemishes. A powder puff not only applies fresh powder to your skin, but it also absorbs the secretions from your skin as your powder. And many girls use one side to wipe their faces off before applying fresh powder, and the other side of the puff to powder. Can't you see why it is necessary that you keep a stock of puffs on hand, and give them all a bath once a week?

To use in your vanity, those little cotton discs which you can buy in quantity for a dime, are the most sanitary for summer use. Each morning you can discard the soiled puff and pop a clean one into your compact. And, if your day is to be an arduous one, you can easily tuck a few extras into your handbag wrapped in a piece of facial tissue.

The better make of puffs which cost only a few pennies more, stand up under many shampoos and dry out fluffy and new looking. Each comes in a cellophane container so you can keep them sanitary after washing, until you need to use them.

By keeping after these little hot weather details your beauty is well cared for and you get the nice reputation of being meticulous right down to your very powder puff!

Allowing Children to 'Fight It Out' Sometimes Best Way

BY ANGELO PATRI

In every family of children, quarrels and lengthy arguments which arrive nowhere but create a loud noise and irritate the elders' nerves, are bound to arise. When the children are little we separate them and keep them busy apart for a while until they forget. When the children are older the arguments begin again with increased volume and with no more meaning or practicality than in childhood. Although it is very difficult to contain oneself it is better to do so and let them argue it out of a finish without interference.

When brother yells at sister, "You think you're so smart what do you think Pete said about you last night? Yeah? Well, he doesn't think you're so hot with your airs and your know-it-all. I could tell you something but you're too wise to listen. Wise girl, Nitwit, I say," and words and words to that effect, don't rush to sister's defense. Keep quiet. Get out of the room and stay out and give them free air.

Telling them that they are brothers and sisters and so should love each other and live in harmony with each other, profits us little at these times. They are telling each other off, and if left to do a thorough job they will bring the battle to a draw and forget it. If father or mother interferes it must be on one side or the other and that makes a bad matter worse. The argument begins now as to which one is RIGHT and why father or mother, decided against him? Better withdraw and let them settle it between themselves.

Sometimes, though rarely when the fight is between adolescents, do they come to blows. That is against all rules and the one who strikes the first blow is to be condemned and punished. The family ought to have at least one rule against physical force. It is ruled out after the passage of childhood. If this rule is broken then parental interference is not only justified, it is imperative.

But most of these storms are on the surface. One holds an opinion and expresses it in opposition to his brother's or sister's opinion and the argument waxed louder and stronger. Get out of the way and let them go to it. Home is the best possible forum children can enjoy. Here they educate one another, trim each other's raw edges, soften each other's prejudices, correct each other's faults. It is rough work but it does its job of training better than authority can do it. And in the end it knits the group closer together in bonds of good will.

You see the fights, wordy fights, are only surface things. They are a chance to let off steam. Abroad

FOUR BLIND DATES

By Edwin Rutt

YESTERDAY: Dottie South, replies to her business partners, Re-Coletti and the Chisler, the fortunate incident whereby she met wealthy Van Harkness. Van sailed up to her building in his boat, she prettily tripped and fell, he rescued her and offered her a lift. To cap the climax he asked her if she knew a Miss South.

Chapter Eight
Squeeze Play

"When I admitted that I was acquainted with Miss South," continued Dorothy, "he said, 'you introduce me to her if I wanted you to, wouldn't you? I appeared to think this over. And, finally I told him I wasn't sure. I said that, although I only knew her slightly, Miss South was by way of being a friend of mine and he must remember that, after all, I didn't know a thing about him. Because, I said, for all I know, you might be a wolf in sheep's clothing. So, Chisler, I said to this young gentleman, surely you can understand why I hesitate in the circumstances?'"

"Very well done, Dorothy," approved the Chisler.

"Well, he said of course he understood that. And he was willing to put all his cards on the table. So they were omitted, or could paper ones be provided?"

Answer: You should provide linen napkins, but very few will be ample since very few people, if any, ever take one from a tea table. This is one occasion when paper ones should be avoided unless linen ones are not to be had.

he told me his name was Van Ryp-Reckness. . . .

The Chisler interrupted with a long drawn-out whistle. "Van

Cool Winds Bring Relief From Heat; Showers Forecast

Increasing Cloudiness Is Prediction for Saturday

Cooling winds from the north brought relief last evening from a heat wave that had many residents of Appleton and vicinity on the ropes. The Post-Crescent thermometer showed 78 degrees early this afternoon. The abnormal temperatures and high humidity of the last few days slowed down the tempo of business and industrial activities and upset many a sleep routine.

The weatherman, who finally made good on his prediction of cooler weather, expects fair conditions to prevail tonight, cloudiness to set in Saturday and showers on Sunday.

Highest and lowest temperatures in this vicinity during the 24-hour period preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 90 degrees at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 60 degrees at 4 o'clock this morning, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

REPORT 10 DEATHS

Chicago—(AP)—A mass of cool air moved over most of the middle west today, bringing relief from three days of searing heat that was blamed for at least 10 deaths and caused many prostrations.

The west central states bore the brunt of the heat wave although temperatures in the high 80s were reported from widely scattered portions of the nation.

The mercury climbed to the 100-degree mark or beyond in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa and Indiana in the grain belt. Arizona in the southwest and Utah and Washington in the west.

Yuma, Ariz., had the unenviable distinction of being the hottest known spot in the nation yesterday. The temperature reached 115, a degree higher than at Phoenix where the mercury stayed above 80 for more than 120 hours.

Cattle Ranges Menaced

Lack of rain and continued heat threatened destruction to cattle ranges in the southwest.

Heat deaths were reported from the following states:

Wisconsin 2, Michigan 2, Iowa 2, Indiana, Kansas, Illinois and Ohio, one each.

Yesterday was the hottest July 13 on record for Chicago where the mercury touched 97. It was 96 at Detroit, where two deaths were recorded, and 94 at Milwaukee, both highs for the season.

Weather forecasters promised no relief today for Kansas which has baked in 100-plus temperatures.

Springfield, Ill., had 101 for the highest mark of the year. Nebraska temperatures exceeded the century mark for the third consecutive day.

The weather bureau said cooler weather would overspread the Ohio valley and the lower lake region today and tonight and the middle Atlantic and north Atlantic states tonight and tomorrow.

Senate Approves Aubrey Williams as NYA Administrator

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—The senate late Thursday confirmed, without debate, the nomination of Aubrey W. Williams of Wisconsin to be administrator of the $100,000,000 National Youth administration program.

Williams has held the post for four years, from the beginning of the program of federal aid to enable boys and girls between 16 and 24 years old to continue their education in high schools, colleges, and universities, and to learn jobs on work projects and in training centers. This is the first time, however, his appointment has come before the senate. There were no protests against his nomination.

The Wisconsin NYA program, under the directorship of John Lasher, is considered one of the best in the country.

Williams formerly directed the Wisconsin state conference of social work, with headquarters at Madison.

Dances May Begin at Pierce Park Next Week

Dances for young people at Pierce park pavilion may begin next week if arrangements are completed by that time, according to Gordon Watts, chairman of a committee named to make arrangements for chaperons.

The park board expects to meet tonight to work out the details for the dances and to set the nights on which they will be held. The floor in the pavilion has been sanded and waxed and is all ready for use.

Appleton Woman Is Given Fragment of Ship 'Constitution'

One of the few people in the United States who own a piece of the original ship Constitution is Mrs. Anton Kolitsch, 530 N. Vine street, who received a piece 23 inches long and 3 inches wide from her cousin, Olaf Egelund, former coast guard captain, when she visited him at Sturgeon Bay the first part of this week.

Egelund was stationed in the east when the Constitution was remodeled a number of years ago, and when it was learned that he knew relatives of Commodore William Bainbridge, who was in charge of the boat during the War of 1812, he was given a piece of the original ship. Almost all the other pieces discarded in the remodeling process went to museums.

Commodore Bainbridge, Mrs. Kolitsch said, was her father's cousin. Mrs. Kolitsch's son, Anthony, who is home for the summer from Phillips, W. Va., where he teaches and her daughter, Phyllis, visited in Sturgeon Bay with her this week.

LaFollette and Borah Seek Information on Proposed Embargo

Washington—(AP)—Senators La Follette (Prog-Wis) and Borah (R-Ida) were among isolationists who yesterday wanted to ascertain what effect the proposed embargo on shipments of war-making materials to Japan would have on a previous treaty with that country—the pact of commerce and amity, signed in 1911.

La Follette also raised the point that the Pacific treaty calls for consultative action by all signatories in case of violation, not action by one nation alone.

Radio Station Heads Move to Curb FCC Power

Ask 3-Year Franchises, No Censoring of Short-Wave Programs

Atlantic City, N. J.—(AP)—The federal communications commission was the target today of two pleas by radio station operators who seek a lessening of government control over their activities.

Winding up their 17th annual convention yesterday, representatives of 422 of the largest stations in the nation, organized as the National Association of Broadcasters, asked the FCC to refrain from censoring short-wave programs, and to grant three-year instead of one-year franchises.

The first plea resulted from the FCC's recent ruling that international broadcasting stations must transmit only programs "which will reflect the culture of this country and promote international goodwill."

Neville Miller, the association's president from Washington, D. C., said if the FCC had authority to censor international broadcasts, it then had "equal authority with respect to domestic broadcasting."

Labelling the ruling "a violent transgression of the basic principle of American democracy," the radio men asked the commission to make clear that no censorship will be imposed on broadcasts, adding in a resolution:

"There is implied in these regulations a trend that must be resisted if broadcasting is to remain free and uncensored."

Firm Requests Permit To Build High Fence

An application for a permit to build an 8-foot fence partly around the Frazer Lumber company property at 413 N. Superior street has been received by the city building inspector. The application will be considered by the board of building inspection before the permit is granted.

PWA Projects in Region Well Along

55 of 219 Wisconsin Jobs, Or 25 Per Cent. Are Finished

Chicago—(AP)—Public works administration projects financed by 1938 grants and loans in region 2 were 31 per cent completed on July 1, the PWA reported today.

The region consists of West Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan. At the beginning of the year, after recession of grants for which applicants were unable to qualify and transfer of other projects, a net of 1,384 active projects in the region remained. Their estimated total cost was $382,863,665.

Projects completed in the region to July 1 numbered 435 with a total estimated cost of $19,895,725.

On July 1, actual construction was giving employment to 55,000 men and 137,500 were employed in production and transportation of materials.

Illinois leads the region in percentage of completed projects, 97 out of 211 or about 44 per cent, with an estimated cost of $5,540,689. Ohio, with the largest number of projects, 473, has completed 129 or 27 per cent. Michigan follows Illinois in percentage of completion, with 93 of 247 finished, 38 per cent. Indiana has completed 47 of 183, or 25 per cent, and Wisconsin 55 of 219, or 25 per cent.

The majority of the completed projects are schools and highway and street improvements.

Cal Perry, 123 S. Appleton street, was taken to St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, Tuesday, where he underwent a major operation. He will be there about two weeks.

Physician Wins In $35,000 Suit

Judge Directs Municipal Court Jury to Find For Defendant

At the close of testimony yesterday afternoon, Judge Edgar V. Werner directed a municipal court jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant in a $35,000 civil suit charging malpractice against Dr. R. V. Landis, Appleton. The suit opened Monday and was started by Gerald Miller through his father, Clarence Miller, 1822 S. Oneida street. Miller in another action tried at the same time sought damages of $10,000 claiming loss of his son's services.

Judge Werner said evidence showed no cause for action in directing the jury to find for the defendant, Dr. Landis. The judge denied a motion for a non-suit, made at the close of testimony for the plaintiff Thursday morning, explaining that the denial was made by him as a matter of policy, but the directed verdict came immediately after the close of the remaining testimony.

The suit was based on a football accident in 1934 in which Gerald Miller suffered a fracture of his left arm. Dr. Landis reduced the fracture but Miller claimed a permanent injury. The defendant's position was that any permanent injury was the result of subsequent surgery he neither performed nor advised.

WISCONSIN WEATHER Fair, not so cool northwest portion tonight. Saturday increasing cloudiness, local thundershowers southwest and south central portions; warmer north portion; showers Sunday.

GENERAL WEATHER Fair weather has prevailed since yesterday morning over all sections of the country, except for showers over the upper Ohio and upper St. Lawrence valleys and over sections of Texas and New Mexico.

It is considerably cooler over the central and plains states, but temperatures are rising over the northern Rocky mountains. High maxima were general yesterday in the central and plains states, with 101 degrees at Kansas City, Mo., and 100 degrees at St. Louis.

Fair and continued cool is expected in this section tonight, followed by warmer Sunday.

Cudaby Attorney Dies In Automobile Crash

Elkhorn—(AP)—Attorney Irvin I. Segall, 28, of Cudaby, Milwaukee suburb, was injured fatally yesterday when an automobile left highway A between Elkhorn and Troy, crashing into a tree and overturning.

Cletus Attermeier, the driver, suffered a broken collar bone. Segall died at the Walworth county hospital here. He was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

And then, just as suddenly as it had appeared, the bow of the 290 foot submarine disappeared beneath the surface. The salvage crew, including some of the 33 men rescued from the Squalus the day after she plunged to tragedy off the Isle of Shoals, was so disheartened by the failure of the lifting effort, that an officer—one of the 33 survivors—wept as he announced it.

Heil to Read Special Message Tuesday; House Gives Final Approval to Revenue Measure

have been stalled in both houses. Among them are the public service, welfare and highway bills.

During house debate on the revenue bill, Minority Leader Paul Alfonsi, Pence, declared Progressives would not support it because it was inadequate. He said they could not vote "blindly" for any measure that forecast a deficit.

Assemblyman Andrew Bleimiller (P) Milwaukee, charged the tax plan increased the burden on small business men and those with low incomes, but reduced taxes for those in the high brackets.

Assemblyman Mark Cathin (R) Appleton, defended the bill and the administration. He declared the Republicans intended to proceed on a "pay as you go policy" and not mortgage the future as he said former Progressive administrations had done.

A bill which would have saved about $25,000 a year through prevention of automatic salary increases for state employees was passed by the assembly today, but delayed in the senate where immediate action was necessary.

Yearly pay advances for employees advanced to higher classifications become effective under present law between July 1 and July 15. The Peterson bill which the assembly approved under suspension of the rules would have stayed all pending increases and made them subject to emergency board sanction. Objections by Senator Joseph McDermid (P) Ladysmith, prevented senate action. Scheduled increases will go into effect after tomorrow.

Set Rates for Use Of Spencer Field

City Will Make Charge to Cover Cost of Lights For Games

A flat charge of $37 for hardball games and $18 for softball games for night games at Spencer field will be made by the city, Mayor John Goodland Jr. said this morning.

The hardball rate will be for 21 hours of baseball and if the lights are on for a longer period an extra charge of $3 will be made. The softball rate was set at $18 because the games are shorter and only 60 per cent of the available lights will be used to light the diamond.

The mayor said the city is not trying to make a profit on the field and that the rate covers only the cost of the electricity, the bulbs, a man to control the lights during games and part of the cost of a man to take care of the field.

The figures were computed by the mayor, Louis Luebke, electrical inspector, and Alderman Brautgam chairman of the council's recreation committee which is in charge of the field.

It Is Said--

Since the city officials' softball team has been losing games, Alderman McGillan, captain of the team, has been coming in for his share of criticism and ribbing on his management of the team. Some of the boys think they could do better than some others who get more chance to play in games. And then another remarked: "Who ever heard of playing a left-handed at second base? It just isn't done."

That the Wisconsin avenue widening project has brewed up considerable heat between two factions, one for the widening of the street and the other against it. The project at one time was approved by the board of public works providing the property owners in the business district would pay for the work. Since that time, however, the opposition has found a leader who has contrived to spike the project, or at least delay it.

That the two city officers named defendants in the council's suit for restoration of their wages, Carl J. Becker, and Joseph A. Kox, will be well taken care of when they are in jail waiting for the trial. Among several calls from friends ribbing the pair about the suit was one offering potato salad if they needed it. Carl said: "We sure will need it but I hope they put bacon in it. I like bacon in my potato salad."

Formation of 'Little Axis' Would be Master Stroke in Hitler Bid for More Power

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York—(AP)—Germany will have pulled a pretty feather out of the Balkans for its bonnet if apparently smoothly-running plans fulfill predictions and produce a German-dominated "little axis" comprising Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Such an alliance would represent a coup of great importance in the struggle with the Anglo-French allies for control of that war-scarred peninsula which precipitated the World war and thus sustained its age-old reputation as the cockpit of eastern Europe.

All in all a hook-up of Hungary, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria presents a gold-mine of military, political and economic potentialities. If it becomes an accomplished fact it is bound to play a vital part in the ultimate solution of the clash between the Rome-Berlin axis and the British-French combine.

At this juncture of the European situation the military aspect of this projected alliance is naturally of great importance. In the first place, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria taken together form a solid barrier across the peninsula, from the Adriatic to the Black sea.

Would Divide Allies This means a land-wedge between the two groups of countries recently taken under the protection of France and England. That is, Poland and Rumania on the north and Turkey and Greece on the south. The Black sea still forms a water-link of problematical value.

They say that Yugoslavia and Bulgaria would be neutral in event of war. Be that as may, they still would divide the Anglo-French protected countries, and this of course is one of Germany's primary ideas.

If the new little axis be regarded as a potential part of a war machine, then we have another picture. The three countries have a combined population of some 32,000,000.

Yugoslavia's active army is 186,000 and its trained reserves 1,850,000—a total of 1,813,000. Bulgaria and Hungary have active armies of some 50,000 and probably bigger than that at this moment and 650,000 trained reserves each.

Albania Is Factor To this combine must now be added Albania, recently taken over lock, stock and barrel by Italy. This little country, which nestles in the side of Yugoslavia on the Adriatic, is of great strategic value.

Rumania is placed in an even more unhappy position than has existed for her since the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia. Yugoslavia was her ally in the Little Entente, which died with Czechoslovakia, and in the Balkan Entente (Rumania, Yugoslavia, Turkey and Greece) which must collapse as at present constituted if the "little axis" is formed.

So now Rumania—guaranteed against aggression by the Anglo-French allies—is all but surrounded by Hitlerian adherents—Hungary, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Apart from other considerations, Bulgaria wants Rumania to give back the former Bulgarian territory of Dobruja, and Hungary is demanding the return of Transylvania.

Threat to Rumania Taking it all around, Germany appears to be setting up what is calculated to be a terrific squeeze which can be used against Rumania if that country doesn't play ball. In an almost equal degree it might be employed against Greece, and in less strength against Turkey.

But the economic aspect of this extraordinary situation ranks along with the political and military. Hungary, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria constitute one of the great granaries of the world, for with Rumania they form the famous Danubian basin.

Yugoslavia, too, possesses important minerals. The whole area of the "little axis" occupies a big place in Germany's dream of politico-economic expansion to the east. Among those who have had a great hand in working on this scheme is Field Marshal Hermann Goering, nazidom's crown-prince. He has been furthering the romantic idea of linking the Rhine and Danube rivers, to make a through water-way from the Baltic to the Black sea to act as a carrier for the products Germany hopes to get from other nations.

Senate Approves Board of Review To Hear Appeals

Progressives Term Measure "Monstrosity"; Also Cite Costs

Madison—(AP)—By vote of 21 to 12, the state senate late yesterday passed and messaged to the assembly a bill setting up an administrative board of review to hear appeals from orders of five state bureaus.

Under the bill, a three-man board would review rulings of the public service, food and tax commissions, the departments of agriculture and markets, and securities, and the commissioner of insurance. Members would be appointed by the governor, with senate approval, and serve six-year terms at $7,000 annually.

The review bill, heart of the Heil reorganization program, would eliminate delay in appeals from agency orders, its supporters contended, as well as prove a "constructive" change.

Progressives termed the measure a "monstrosity" which would bring longer delay in appeals and cost $45,000 annually. Sen. Michael F. Kresky (P) Green Bay, claimed the public service commission would be forced to adopt new and involved procedure in utility acquisition by fixing values on separate units instead of entire plants.

Kresky was answered by Sen. Marvin Duell (R) Fond du Lac, who said the supreme court's decision in the Wisconsin Telephone company case revealed "incontestable evidence" of the commission's inefficiency.

Adjournment of the afternoon session blocked the effort of Senator Philip E. Nelson (P) Maple, to force a final vote on the administration's highway commission reorganization bill. The bill was killed three weeks ago but there have been several delays on motions for reconsideration of the vote.

The legislature thus far has reorganized the agriculture and securities departments. Still pending are the tax commission and public service commission proposals, as well as reorganization of the highway commission and establishment of a state motor vehicle division.

Menasha Mayor Wants Neenah To Reconsider Before Work On Boulevard Gets Underway

Menasha Mayor W. H. Jensen today declared that he is in no position to direct the Menasha council to drop the boulevard problem and requested Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs to prevail upon the Neenah council to reconsider its action of July 5 at which the Neenah aldermen considered dropping the matter entirely.

The request that the matter, which has occupied the councils intermittently since last December, be dropped for the present was made Wednesday in a letter from Mayor Kalfahs to Mayor Jensen. The Menasha mayor, in his letter today, declared that Menasha will start work on removal of the Menasha side of the west end of the boulevard. The Menasha council voted to remove that part at the July 6 meeting following the failure of a joint arbitration committee from the two councils to reach an agreement.

The letter from Mayor W. H. Jensen follows: "It would appear that you are just as insistent on not removing your half of the center section of Nicolet boulevard as we are in removing our half."

"In the second paragraph of your letter your personal view that the removal of just one-half of the center section would constitute a 'Twin City disgrace,' I am inclined to believe that it is a disgrace to think that a problem so small as this cannot be disposed of by a willingness on the part of the Neenah council to see Menasha's point of view. I feel safe to say that it is agreeable with every member of the Menasha council to grant permission to Neenah to remove any part of the boulevard that would help to eliminate a traffic hazard or congestion."

"I think Menasha has been over-optimistic in this particular problem when they asked to have the center section of Nicolet boulevard removed to help reduce traffic congestion between Ahnapee street and Washington street and we felt that Neenah would respond by adopting an open-minded attitude and considering our offer in asking for the removal of the center section. But no, Neenah became terrace-minded and made no effort to see our point of view."

"I am sure that the council and myself would be the last ones to start controversy of any kind to disturb the friendly relations between Neenah and Menasha. I wonder how many people really understand this problem. We are only asking to remove the boulevard side of the center section."

LEGAL NOTICES

Sailor Describes Contrasts of East To Neenah Rotary

Recruiting Officer Tells Of Poverty in Oriental Countries

Neenah—Contrasts in the Far East were described by Oscar Swedberg, United States navy recruiting officer stationed at Oshkosh, at a Wednesday noon luncheon meeting of the Neenah Rotary club at the Valley Inn. Swedberg has been in the navy 18 years and was stationed with the Asiatic fleet for 30 months.

Members of navy have an opportunity to compare living conditions in other countries with those in our country, the navy man pointed out, and declared that people on relief or living on a small salary in this country are in luxury in comparison with the living conditions in other parts of the world. He told of Chinamen carrying four sacks of flour per trip steadily for 10 to 12 hours a day—for just 10 cents in American money.

Sea Scouts, Girls Get Lake Ducking When Boat Capsizes

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Four Oshkosh Sea Scouts had their respective prides hurt and got a ducking along with three girls when the Sea Adler, a sailing boat owned by the Oshkosh Scouts, capsized about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon on Lake Winnebago three miles off the Oshkosh shore.

Captain Irving Stulp and Robert Besch of the Winnebago county police force, rescued the young people who were hanging to the side of the boat when the rescue party arrived. A phone call reporting a boat in distress brought the officers.

The Sea Adler was sighted, by an unknown person, in a heavy sea and apparently in trouble. The police started for the craft and when they were within a mile of the boat, it capsized. None of the group was injured but several were suffering from shock.

In the boat were James and Jacquelyn Jackson, Barbara Clark, Walter Evanson, Fred Johnson, Jacquelyn Bantun and George Kitz, all of Oshkosh.

Says New Deal Won't Find Anyone to Fill Roosevelt's Shoes

New York — "Talking as 'a cynical Republican,' Colonel Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, said yesterday that all of the New Deal leaders advanced as possible candidates for the presidency in 1940 would 'wind up not as good as the old man.'"

By the "old man," Colonel Knox, Republican candidate for vice president in 1936, made clear he meant President Roosevelt.

He made his comment on the political situation in answer to a question regarding the recent appointment of Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, retiring high commissioner of the Philippines, as federal security administrator.

"It is just another trial balloon," said Colonel Knox in a residential interview. "He (President Roosevelt) fired five or six before. Among these trial horses were Harry Hopkins and Robert H. Jackson. I'm talking as a cynical Republican, but they'll all wind up not as good as the old man."

A. A. L. Units To Hold Picnic At Weyauwega

THE fifth annual picnic for Aid Association for Lutherans, sponsored by local branches for all Lutheran families and friends, will take place Sunday at the Wauwauwega county fair grounds at Weyauwega. Branches participating include Wauwauwega, Weyauwega, Fremont, East Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Poy Sippi, Readfield, Caledonia and Larsen.

There will be no church services at the grounds, members to attend services at their own churches before going to the picnic grounds. A basket lunch will be eaten at the grounds, and light lunches will be available at stands.

The afternoon program will begin at 1:30 and will include an address by A. H. Blankenburg, Appleton. The welcome will be given by the Rev. C. H. Clausen, West Bloomfield; a vocal duet will be sung by Regina and Carol Zabel, West Bloomfield; a tuba solo will be presented by Donald Thews, Weyauwega; and songs will be given by the Four Notes quartet composed of Otto Steegbauer, John Stockinger, Joseph Biehl and Max Weisler. Oshkosh, accompanied by Miss Marie Phillips, also of Oshkosh. A xylophone solo will be played by Robert Kohl, Readfield; a vocal duet will be given by Naomi and Carol Clausen, West Bloomfield; a Swedish skit will be presented by Arthur Larson, Wauwauwega; and imitations will be given by Tony Budwitz, New London. Stunts and contests of various kinds are planned also.

The Weyauwega High school band of 35 pieces will play during the afternoon.

A special meeting of the Pilgrim Fellowship of First Congregational church will take place Sunday at the home of the chairman, Miss Beverly Olson, 721 S. Story street. A librarian and historian will be appointed. Young people who attended the congregational conference at Green Lake will give their reports.

A visiting committee was appointed at the meeting of Ladies Aid society of St. Matthew Lutheran church yesterday afternoon at Pierce park. It includes Mrs. Thomas Landry, Mrs. Arnold Lopez, Mrs. Carl Meertz and Mrs. Arthur Peters. Mrs. August Herzfeldt invited the women to hold a meeting at her cottage on Lake Winnebago late this month. Twenty-eight members were present.

Hostesses for August will be Mrs. Gordon Ratzman, Mrs. Alvin Roehl, Mrs. Herbert Schabo and Mrs. E. C. Schroeder.

The Rev. Milton Feldt, Seymour, will preach at First Methodist church Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, Dr. Harry C. Culver.

Torchbearers club, young people of Salvation Army, held a picnic yesterday at Menasha municipal beach. Swimming took place and the group held a wiener and marshmallow roast. Seventeen persons were present.

Zion Lutheran Ladies society was entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Marie Beske, W. Commercial street. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Otto Reetz, Mrs. Henry Techlin, Mrs. Joseph Treiber, Mrs. Philipp Vogt and Mrs. Augusta Brown.

Bride-to-be Names Wedding Attendants

For her wedding July 22 to Michael Gochbauer, Miss Ida Masse will have as one of her attendants Miss Florence Magee, Two Rivers, who was one of her Delta Gamma sorority sisters at Lawrence college. Roy H. Marston, Jr., Akron, Ohio, will be Mr. Gochbauer's best man, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Masse, Green Bay, will be the other attendants. The ceremony will be performed at 2:30 in the afternoon in the parsonage of St. John church, Green Bay.

After the ceremony, which will be witnessed only by members of the two families, there will be a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Both Miss Masse, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Masse, Green Bay, and Mr. Gochbauer, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Gochbauer, 802 E. College avenue, are graduates of Lawrence college.

A son was born Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reiver of this village.

A Torchek of Two Rivers. A lunch was served later in the evening.

Twelfth Annual Carnival at Fremont Scheduled for Aug. 5-6

Fremont — Dates for the twelfth annual water carnival at Fremont were set for Aug. 5 and 6 at a special meeting of the chamber of commerce Wednesday evening at the village hall.

Outdoor motorboat races on the Wolf river again will be the highlight of the Sunday program. The races are expected to be run under the approval of the Wisconsin Boating association. Local boat races are planned for Aug. 5.

Venetian night boat parade and other new stunts was discussed.

Reinhold Koehler, West Bloomfield, truck driver for the Wadham Oil company is recovering at Memorial hospital, Berlin, from an accident which occurred at about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon when his truck left the road near the Albert Handrick farm home at West Bloomfield and turned over several times. The left front wheel locked throwing him through the windshield. He received severe cuts and bruises and a fractured ankle. The cab of the truck and tank filled with 400 gallons of gasoline were damaged considerably.

The marriage of Mr. Koehler to Miss Glennie Looker, Fremont, set for Saturday, July 15, was postponed to July 22.

Leo Lind, newly elected school clerk, has resigned his position and the school board has named Dr. Walter Neuschafer to the office.

TURNED DOWN

George Petty, creator of streamlined girls for the magazine illustrations, submitted this poster for the American Legion convention which is to be held in Chicago in September. But the Legion's executive committee raised a collective eyebrow at the trim, scantily-clad, dramatic majorette and selected a more sombre poster.

Darboy Legion Post Meets Monday Evening

Darboy—Leo Van Roy Post No. 265 of the American Legion will have its annual meeting at the clubhouse Monday evening. Election of officers will take place. The selection of the delegates to attend the Oshkosh American Legion convention also will take place. The auxiliary has been invited to attend the meeting.

Miss Patsy Gollner of Menasha is spending a week here as the guest of Miss Joan Bruex.

The annual school meeting of District No. 6, Banner school, was held at the schoolhouse Monday evening. Hugo Wittmann was re-elected treasurer. The meeting was adjourned to Aug. 15, when it will be decided whether the school will be kept in session for the following year.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Wilmes and son Dickey of South Milwaukee were the guests of Mrs. Crescentia Uitenbroek and daughter Mildred Saturday.

Zillmer Services to Be Held Saturday

Marion—Mrs. Fredericka Zillmer, 65, died Thursday at the home of her son, John Zillmer at Sheboygan. Mrs. Zillmer had been ill for the last 13 years.

Fredericka Lemke was born Oct. 30, 1874, in Germany. On Oct. 18, 1888, she was married to J. Albert Zillmer and they made their home on a farm in Dupont. Mr. Zillmer died Nov. 18, 1936.

Survivors are three sons, John Sheboygan; William, Dupont, and Edwin, Belle Plaine; four daughters, Mrs. Charles Knaack and Mrs. Louis Ratzberg of Dupont, Mrs. Alma Pruess, Greenville, and Mrs. Rheinold Ratzburg, Marion; 18 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren; two brothers, William of Dupont and Fred of Sheboygan.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon from St. Paul's Lutheran church by the Rev. W. E. Lange. Burial will take place in Roseland cemetery, Marion.

Brillion Electors Vote Levy of $11,500 For School Purposes

Brillion — The annual meeting of Joint District No. 2 of the town and village of Brillion was held in the high school assembly room Monday evening. The meeting was officially opened by F. L. Luecker, director. J. E. Heath was appointed to preside. Dr. W. G. Schlei gave the report of the auditing committee. Dr. E. H. Kloebe, who was appointed to fill the vacancy of treasurer in place of Henry Leppa who resigned from the board in fall, was elected at the annual meeting to complete the three year term of treasurer which expires next year. F. L. Luecker was re-elected director for a three-year term. It was decided to levy $11,500 as in previous years. The school board was authorized to make temporary loans of school purposes if needed. It was decided to continue the free textbook system. The auditing committee for next year consists of Henry Horn, Miss Mabel Luecker and Henry Horn. It was also voted upon that the salaries of the school board officials remain unchanged.

"Independence Day" was the theme of the program presented at the meeting of the American Legion auxiliary at the Legion hall Tuesday evening. The program committee consisted of Mrs. Arthur Heimke, chairman, Mrs. John Pfluger and Mrs. Norbert Horn. The following program was presented: community singing of patriotic songs, several guitar selections by Miss Delores Horn, readings on the "Great Declaration of Independence" by Mrs. Norbert Horn and Mrs. Arthur Heimke and a poem on "Liberty" by Mrs. John Pfluger.

During the business meeting which followed the program, committee reports were given. Mrs. Paul Engel gave a detailed report on the American Legion auxiliary picnic which was held at Horn park on July 4. Plans were made for the unit to serve supper and lunch at the band concert social at the I. O. O. F. park Wednesday, July 26. Mrs. Robert Heinga was appointed chairman of the committee in charge. Delegates named to the annual American Legion and auxiliary department convention at Oshkosh Aug. 12 to 15 are the president and secretary of the unit, Mrs. Henry Horn and Miss Harriet Andrews. It was decided to have the next meeting on Aug. 2 instead of Aug. 14 because of the convention. Lunch was served after the meeting.

Only 14 Persons at Annual School Meet

Manawa — Fourteen persons, including the 3 board members, the janitor and the music director, attended the annual meeting of the Manawa Grade school held in the auditorium Monday evening. The number was the smallest to attend in years and marked a distinct lack of interest among voters in the district.

A sum of $3,500 was requested by the school board, composed of L. M. Lamkins, director, Mrs. Clarence Sturm, clerk, and Charles E. Hoffman, treasurer, for school purposes next year, which was approved. The figure is $500 less than last year.

Mr. Hoffman was re-elected treasurer for a term of three years, receiving 13 votes. Other business transacted included the reading of the treasurer's report, appropriating $100 to the music department for equipment and repairs and granting permission to the board to borrow money if necessary for school purposes. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $3,549.51.

An auditing committee consisting of Mrs. W. Irvine, Mrs. Anna Osekirk and Jim Walsh was appointed by Karl Sturm, who presided at the meeting.

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—On the tenth anniversary of his debut in motion pictures, celebrated the other day, Warner Brothers offered Jimmy (fight-at-the-drop-of-a-verb) Cagney a nice, fat, new contract. It guaranteed him a tidy increase in authority, prestige and cash; naturally he accepted with thanks. And I've been wondering ever since if he had the grace to blush. Just about three years ago, Jimmy was calling the Warners very impolite names, both in private, and in open court where he fought for release from contractual obligations to them. Being one of the world's most expert objectors, he cited more grievances than will bear rehearsing here, but among them all, the one most often harped upon was that Warner Brothers had forced him to play too many tough guy roles. Such roles, he said, were ruining his career.

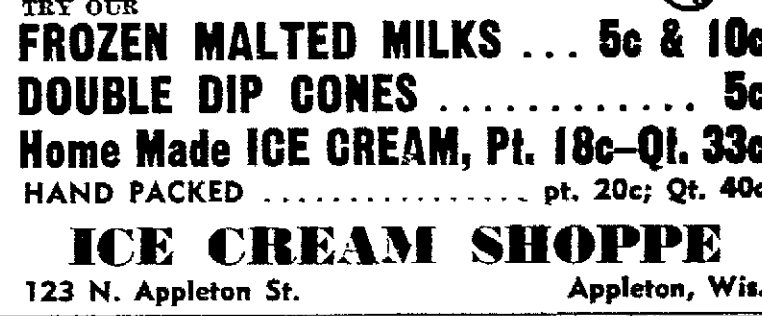

After considerable legal bickering—much of it laughable if you respond to the ridiculous—Jimmy won his freedom and dashed forth to make the kind of pictures he really deserved. It was a sad experience—so sad that he eventually "forgave" the Warners and gladly signed a new contract. For them, he made "Angels With Dirty Faces"—exactly the kind of a picture he had previously squawked about. It was a smash hit. Then he played a killer in "OklaHoma Kid," and a hard-boiled egg in "Each Dawn I Die." This new contract is the result of those three pictures which have made him, in spite of his protests, bigger than ever.

Seldom, I think, has a man been more handsomely paid for being entirely wrong.

Bells and No-Bells: Highlights on the movie menu: "They Shall Have Music," which has 1000 per cent by combining the inspired fiddling of Jascha Heifetz and a heart-tugging story; also "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever," which fully upholds the high standard set by previous pictures in the series... A carillon to RKO for launching ex-star Rod LaRaque's screen comeback with a good role in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" And bells to Barbara Stanwyck for time well spent in entertaining the kids at the Los Angeles Children's Home...

2 cups sifted flour	3 tablespoons Spry
3 teaspoons baking powder	1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons sugar	1/4 cup brown sugar,
1/4 teaspoon salt	finely packed
1/4 cup Spry	1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg, well beaten	1 tablespoon top milk
2 cups milk	2 cups apples, sliced thin

Sift flour with baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in 1/4 cup Spry until mixture is as fine as corn meal. (See how quickly triple-cream Spry blends with your other ingredients.) Combine beaten egg and milk and add to flour mixture, mixing until a soft dough is formed. Mix 3 tablespoons Spry and butter together, add brown sugar, cinnamon and milk and mix well. Pour into 8x4-inch pan greased with Spry. Press apples into mixture in circles. Spread dough over apples. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Serve upside down with whipped cream. Serves 8 to 10.

Athletics Cop Round Honors

Maul Menasha Eagles, 17 to 4, in Winnebago Land Play

APPLETON ATHLETICS mauled the Menasha Eagles by a 17 to 4 score last evening under the West Spencer street lights and thereby annexed the first round honors in the Winnebago Land league. The victory also was the sixteenth straight this season for the Appleton team.

A record crowd jammed the field and occupied all seats. Probably as many more persons remained in cars outside the park or stood against the fence.

Big Bill Nofke was on the mound for the Appleton club and held the Eagles to five hits in two going for extra bases. He fanned eight and walked three. Johnny Knoll started for the Eagles and fanned four. Beach followed him and fanned four and walked three. Both were hit hard. Nofke also paced his mates at the plate with four hits in five tries.

The Athletics took the lead in the opening frame when Paul Grishaber tripled to center and N. Kirk doubled. Kirk counted on Frederick's hit. Menasha counted a run in its half the fourth and the count was 2 to 1. Beach registered.

A four run rally in the fourth gave the Athletics a 6 to 1 lead. Knoll left the hill and Beach replaced him and thereafter the game was a farce. Hits by P. Grishaber, W. Nofke and N. Horn helped score the runs.

The fifth saw two more runs for the A's. W. Nofke double to chase E. Horn home and then scored on an error. In the sixth, two runs made the score 10 to 2 and in the first of the eighth it was 10 to 4.

The last of the eighth saw the Athletics count seven times. Fredrick doubled and scored on O. Kirk's hit. Horn was hit by a pitched ball. E. Brueggemann singled scoring Kirk. Nofke then hit to score E. Horn. F. Kroiss walked leading the bases. E. Brueggemann was caught off third but P. Grishaber was hit by a pitched ball again leading the sacks. N. Kirk then singled driving in two runs. N. Horn singled to count two more and end the agony.

Clintonville at Seymour Sunday

Dick Weisgerber to Try For Second Win in Week Over Trucks

Seymour—Dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans from the northern part of the county and from the vicinity of Clintonville and the Fox River valley, will invade Seymour Sunday afternoon for the opening game of the second round of the Northern State league. It will feature Seymour and Clintonville.

Clintonville won the first round title in the State loop but Seymour spilled the Truckers on every occasion they met, three to be exact, and last Sunday night Dick Weisgerber of Seymour turned in a no-hit contest against them. The victory has the fans talking and with Richard slated to hurl again Sunday afternoon, the folk will be out pulling for another victory.

If Seymour can start second round play with a win it will mean a lot to the squad. Everyone admits the second round will be tougher than the first because several clubs have added talent. But if the leaders are toppled, other teams will feel the same about things and it will be a dog fight down to the last contest with any club liable to win.

Joe Fitzgerald, Black Creek, who has been hitting at a 500 clip in the Fox River Valley league, has joined Seymour for the second round. He shows in the outfield.

Vance Page, Chicago Cubs' pitcher who is starting his first full year in the major leagues, can never have anything but kind thoughts for Indianapolis, the club which sold him to the Cubs last July. Lots of minor league club-owners sell players to majors, but Norman Perry, Indians owner, not only sold Vance to the National League champions but also presented him with a brand new automobile so he could make the trip from Ind. to Chi in the height of fashion.

Weller Taken Ill On Eve of Battle Between 2 PC Teams

The strain and tension preceding the grudge battle between the two PC teams, Power Company and Post-Crescent, to be played at 5:30 this evening at Roosevelt school diamond, apparently has proven too much for Hilbert J. (Kelly) Weller, manager of the Powers, for he is confined to his home with an illness and won't be able to put in an appearance. This not only leaves Manager Eddie Stern without a gap opponent but has inspired the Power team to "bring home the bacon" in hopes it will aid his convalescence.

Arnie Hillman will shoulder Weller's duties and probably won't find himself weighted down to any extent. With both teams already claiming victory, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and Chief of Police George T. Prim, umpires, are expected to have their hands full.

Count League Race Nears End; Teams Fairly Well Grouped

With three games before the end of the season, a radical change can take place and the winners of the northern half is a tossup.

In the Northern division, the leading Black Creek squad will invade Freedom. Sunday and the way the Sagol tribe has been coming along in last few games, the Creckers are in for a tough afternoon.

The Creckers defeated Freedom, 8 to 4, at Black Creek on July 2, but it was a battle from start to finish amidst hot words and swinging fists. In their own back yard, Freedom is hard to beat and with Shorty Plamann in fine fettle the game may be one of the best of the season. Schommer or Van Zee-land will receive Plamann's curves.

For Black Creek, Miller will be on the mound with Huettl receiving.

Nichols will go to Shiocton to battle the luckless tail-enders who have won nary a game this season. A win for Nichols and a loss for Black Creek will leave a 2-way tie for first place in league standings.

In the Southern section, Appleton's entry, Cozy Tavern, will enter the Greenville Merchants. A win for the invaders will place them in a tie for the top. Van Ryzin is slated for mound duty for Cozy's with Kloe on the receiving end. L. Huebner or Reimer will toss for the Merchants with Schultz receiving. The Cozy's have a first place lead of one game and will be battling to retain it. Last Sunday Van Ryzin set down 12 opponents in the strikeout route.

In the other Southern section game, Greenville Grange will invade Little Chute with proceedings starting at 10 a. m. Little Chute must win to hold its slim chance for first place. The Grangers can tie Appleton if they win. Lefty Diederick may start on the mound for the Chuters with Dazz Van Thiel receiving. Kuzenski will be on the mound for the Grangers with Schuler receiving.

Valley Merchants Beat Kaukauna Klub
Little Chute — In a closely contested game, Valley Merchants scored a 4 to 3 victory over the strong Kaukauna Klub team Wednesday evening at the D. X. softball diamond. Wiegand and Branchford tolled for the visitors with Neiz and Winn receiving, while Hank Van Lankfelt and Joe Vandenberg each worked on the mound for the locals, with the pitchers alternating on the receiving end.

Status of Swedish Entrants in Doubt

National Outboard Racing Commission to Rule on Pair

Milwaukee — Status of two Swedish racers in the international outboard motorboat races starting tomorrow will be determined in a meeting tonight of the National Outboard Racing commission, headed by C. F. Chapman of New York city.

The commission is to decide whether the two, Gunnar Faleij of Mora and Sture Selander of Gothenburg, are to race as amateurs or professionals. The men planned to test their new American-made boats today.

Additional women's entries included Mrs. Peter Seyl, Chicago; Mildred Miller, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Nell Cooper, Kansas City, and Dorothy Larson, Rockford, Ill. Previously entered were Mrs. Ann Mandell, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and Mrs. Karly Vogts, Madison.

Gar Wood, Jr., expected to arrive today, looked to Paul Wierly of Muncie, Ind., a University of Indiana senior, for his stiffest competition. Wierly stole the honors at recent LaCrosse races.

Then to the Athletics-Eagles baseball game at the West Spencer street diamond where a great crowd had gathered. It was a surprise and indicated the town will go for night ball. The Athletics looked like class from the minute Paul Grishaber cracked a triple into deep center.

But as the game went on and the Athletics increased their lead the Eagles gave up or something and the contest wasn't as entertaining as it might have been. Many of the fans didn't like it; they want the boys to bear down regardless.

Incidentally, the Athletics are the class of local baseball. They haven't lost a start in 16 and they are pointing toward that Milwaukee tournament.

Telephone call this morning from Emil Kramer, the game warden, revealed that 400 pheasants about eight weeks old were planted by various conservation groups in the vicinity of Dale, Black Creek, Nichols, Shiocton, Seymour and Appleton, yesterday.

Seventeen black raccoons also were set out in different parts of the county. The birds and animals were secured from the state game farm at Poynette.

Appleton girls softballers are selling tickets for that big game under lights Sunday night with the city officials team. The young ladies are certain they're going to win and they'll warm up for the contest tonight at the Forster diamond when they play New London.

The annual city tennis tournament sponsored by Charles Pond will be announced tomorrow. Watch for it.

KIMBERLY — A large number of fans from Little Chute plan on following their team in the Fox Valley league to Kimberly Friday evening where one of the sensational battles of the year will take place with Butch Thein's Papermakers. The game originally was scheduled for Sunday but has been moved ahead to allow a number of Little Chute players to go on weekend trips.

The visiting fans figure that while Thein's charges are in a losing mood it will be a cinch to win. The Papermakers won one game from the Chuters by a score of 13 to 1 and a win for the Hollanders would even things.

The victory wasn't much of an effort for the Papermakers had the game clinched in the first two innings. Kimberly took a 2-run lead in the first frame and added four scores in the second when Baker Versteegen miscued and dropped a fly ball near third base. It took the pep out of the Chuters for the remainder of the game.

Despite the fact the advance dope from Little Chute indicates the Hollanders plan on taking the game, they seem to forget that they have Artie Hofkins to contend with. During the first half Artie pitched a number of games and sent many a team home in defeat. Should Hofkins need help there will be Behr and Vander Zanden. Vander Zanden pitched the entire game at Kaukauna Wednesday evening and showed well.

For Little Chute, it will probably be J. Call on the mound. A win over the Papermakers would strengthen Little Chute's lead for top honors considerably. The team is now tied with Menasha with two wins and Friday's outcome may give it a one game margin.

The game is expected to start about 8:15.

Chaffin Chapter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

OUT TO BUTTE DES MORTS yesterday for the first time this season to play a round of golf at the Thursday afternoon program.

A whistling breeze made playing great and our foursome showed Ev Leonard, Bill Oakes and C. B. Turney. The competition wasn't too keen until Ev and Bill started bearing down on the back nine and then we watched them bang the ball into the next county.

When we finally trudged up on the 18th Ev mentioned that play wasn't so heavy for the day because a goodly number of performers had gone down to Takodah for the Northeastern and sure enough they had. Joe Shields was sitting around telling about an 80 he had blasted and the fact he was in the championship flight. O. K. Ferry mentioned something about the team event but it wasn't in a loud breath. He wouldn't even remember the scores.

During the evening we had the pleasure of meeting Bob Zuercher, the new coach at Menasha St. Mary, and a big fellow he is, too. He had been out playing a bit and was spending much of his time between mouthfuls at dinner getting up to meet someone.

Another surprise was finding Art Jensen around. He's on a vacation and plays golf whenever the opportunity arises. Art was phy ed director at the Y.M.C.A. for a long time until he went to Chicago for the Tuttle Press company. He rated an outstanding young man honor from the Junior Chamber of Commerce about that time.

Doc Hegner came in after a long practice session. Doc once shot a par 36 at Butte des Morts and although he's been practicing hard ever since, he hasn't ever repeated.

And when the strains of something about a barrel roll or rolling out the barrel weren't too loud, Ev Leonard mentioned that the state left handed open may be held here. Will that ever be a crazy gathering.

Then to the Athletics-Eagles baseball game at the West Spencer street diamond where a great crowd had gathered. It was a surprise and indicated the town will go for night ball. The Athletics looked like class from the minute Paul Grishaber cracked a triple into deep center.

Y. M. C. A. 10, Foresters 2.
Friday — Institute versus Eagles (moved up from Aug. 21).

Y. M. C. A. softballers affirmed their Fraternal league superiority when they overwhelmed Foresters, their nearest rival, by a 10 to 2 score for their ninth consecutive victory at Wilson school diamond last evening.

Howie Branchford's 3-hit pitching and timely hitting accounted for the victory.

Foresters started as if they were going places when they retired the Y. M. C. A. in order in the first half of the initial inning and combined two hits, an error and walk for two runs. Recker took three bases when Captain dropped his fly and scored when Reider was out on a fielder's choice. Klein singled to left, Childs walked and Haberman singled to score Klein.

From there on it was just a matter of time for not another Forester reached second base.

The first tally was registered in the second frame when Heinie Rammer pulled a long home run. The team took the lead in the fourth frame with two more runs. Krause opened with a walk and Captain smashed a circuit blow. Another tally was added in the sixth when Milt Schwandt, first man up, walloped a 4-bagger. The winners put the game on ice in the eighth inning with five runs and added one for good measure in the ninth.

Tightens Up
Branchford tightened up after the first inning and had the Forester batters eating out of his hand. He fanned seven and walked four. Reider labored for the losers and was nicked for 13 hits while whiffing 8 and passing 4.

Wilson and Schwandt each got three hits out of five and Greisch collected two out of three. Wilson Greisch and Branchford were credited with doubles.

California Netters In Women's Finals
Chicago — (P) — Two California entrants, the top ranked Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco and Patricia Canning of Alameda, unseeded, will decide the women's western singles tennis championship.

Miss Wolfenden advanced to the finals yesterday by defeating Miss Canning's Marta Barnett, while Miss Canning, who eliminated defending champion Catherine Wolf the day before, marched on with a victory over Helen Fulton of Winnetka, Ill.

The men's division found another Californian, Jack Tibball of Los Angeles, also bidding for a title. He disposed of Chicago's John Shostrom yesterday in straight sets to advance to the semifinals with No. 1 seeded Wilbur Coen of Kansas City and the Chicago twins, Chester and Bill Murphy.

BROWNS BEAT NATS
St. Louis — (P) — Charley Gelbert's homer got Washington off to a good start yesterday but Myril Hoag came through in the eighth with a timely hit to give the St. Louis Browns a 3 to 2 victory.

Gelbert, a former Cardinal, drove in two men with his second inning circuit blow and not until the sixth were the Browns able to draw up even. George McQuinn of the Browns hit his tenth home run of the season in the fourth. Four straight singles in the sixth tied the score.

Jim Vernon, rookie Washington first baseman starting his first game in the majors, got one hit, a double in the seventh. Then he was

Macks Trail by 8 to 0 But Rally and Tip Chi Sox; Donald of Yankees Chased

CHICAGO — (P) — A belated but rousing attack brought Philadelphia's Athletics from behind an 8 to 0 disadvantage yesterday and gave them a 12 to 10 decision over the Chicago White Sox in the series opener.

The A's piled up 22 hits once they got their assault under way in the fifth inning, routing Ed Smith and Clint Brown as they continued to score in every inning thereafter. Bob Johnson contributed four singles and Bill Nagel a home run. Rip Radcliff homered for the Sox in the early surge that drove Nelson Potter, A's starting pitcher, from the box.

Brown, making his thirty-second relief appearance in Chicago's 74 games, took over in the seventh with one on, none out and the Sox still ahead, 8 to 4. He showed the effects of the relief grind and was battered for 10 hits in two and one-third innings. It was his third setback against six triumphs in rescue roles.

RED SOX WIN
Cleveland — (P) — The Boston Red Sox eked out a 6 to 5, tenth-inning victory over the Cleveland Indians last night after knocking Bob Feller from the mound with a six hit barrage in the fourth. Lou Finney's pinch single drove in the winning run after a five run Cleveland rally in the ninth tied the count. The victory was Boston's ninth in a row.

Neenah Golfer Ties as Medalist At Northeastern
Jack Lemberg Shoots 42-34-76; Shields Has Low B.D.M. Score

FOND DU LAC — Medalist honors in the annual Northeastern open golf tournament were a 4-way tie as result of the qualifying round yesterday over the Takodah course here.

Jack Lemberg, Ridgeway, Neenah, who shot a 42-34-76, tied with Pete Zuzartini, Riverdale, Sheboygan; Harry Masse, Shorewood, Green Bay; and George St. Peter, Takodah, Fond du Lac.

Joe Shields turned in the lowest Appleton Butte des Morts score with an 80. He is in the championship flight along with Jim Grode, Ridgeway, Neenah, 80, and Harold Heuer, Riverside, Clintonville, 78.

In the team event Appleton was out of the running. Oneida, Green Bay, won the event. Ridgeway Neenah, was fifth with a 418 and Clintonville was ninth.

C flight scores showed Mike Sakallaris, Neenah, 86, Frank Robinson, Neenah, 87, F. C. Steinke, Appleton, 87, Ralph Piper, Appleton, 89, M. L. Clough, Appleton, 90.

D flight showed Jim Bohr, Clintonville, 93.

In the senior event were Dan Steinberg, Sr., 96, Art Guell, 87, and R. K. Wolter, 92, all of Appleton.

EARTH LODGES

The name "Seminole" means "Runaway," and the tribe was given the name because of an event which took place more than two centuries ago. A large number of Creek Indians left their villages in Georgia, and moved into Florida.

An open house of Seminole Indians. These "runaways" spread over a large part of Florida. In later years they took part in warfare with American settlers who wanted to drive them away.

One stretch of Seminole warfare, lasting seven years, cost the United States government $20,000,000, and close to 1,500 American soldiers lost their lives. The Seminoles were defeated, and most of those left alive were moved to Oklahoma. A few hundred stayed in Florida, making their homes in the swampy lands known as the Everglades.

The Seminole type of house is famed because of its open sides. Living in a state with a mild climate, even in mid-winter, the Indians built homes which were not at all closed in.

Palmetto trees were employed in building Seminole homes. Posts of palmetto wood held up the roof, and the roof was thatched with palmetto leaves.

One Seminole dwelling, which was standing 60 years ago, was nine feet wide and 16 feet long. The roof slanted rather sharply from a central ridge-pole. It was 12 feet high at the center, but only seven feet high at the eaves.

Very different were the homes of some tribes of the western plains! These tribes might use tips when they were on long hunting trips, but their year-around homes had thick walls and were very much "closed in." I am thinking chiefly of the Omaha, Pawnee and Ojibwa tribes, all of which made "earth lodges."

Up to a certain point the earth lodge was almost like the grass house of the Wichita Indians, but it was finished more strongly and was better fitted to keep off chill winter winds. The Pawnee tribe had a legend which said their ancestors had built grass houses, but had been taught by beavers to make the earth lodge.

The start of an earth lodge was a ditch cut in a circle. It was about three feet deep, and tall posts were placed in it. Willow branches and saplings were used in making the rest of the framework of the walls and roof.

Over the framework the Indians placed bundles of dry grass and squares of sod. Rain fell on the grass and often it kept growing after being put in place. There were earth lodges with wild flowers growing on the sides and roof!

Judge Severson Reverses Jury in Suit Against City Court Holds Municipality Not Liable in Death Of Boy

New London — Circuit Judge Herman J. Severson of Waupaca Thursday afternoon filed a decision in favor of the city of New London reversing the action of a fact-finding jury which last April awarded damages of $4,760 to Mr. and Mrs. Byron Christian for the death of their son, Byron, Jr., by electrocution from a city electric light wire on Aug. 3, 1937. Walter Melchior, attorney for the Christian's, said an appeal may be made to the Wisconsin Supreme court.

The judge ruled that the city was not liable since it was performing a governmental function in lighting the city streets and is not responsible for any negligence on the part of its servants. Byron Christian was electrocuted when he picked up a live wire that had fallen from the lighting of St. John's place. The plaintiffs charged negligence on the part of the city in maintaining the lines.

On April 26 the circuit court jury awarded to the Christians pecuniary damages of $3,500, damages for the loss of companionship in the amount of $1,000, and funeral expenses of $260. The matter of the city's liability concerned a fine point of law in distinguishing between its function in a proprietary capacity for profit or a governmental capacity for the public good.

The Christians sought damages of $5,000, $12,500 for the death of their son and $1,500 for the loss of his society.

Men's Club Team Loses, Then Wins

Squad Forfeits but Uses
Pickup Players to Swamp Lutherans

New London — After forfeiting a Senior Men's league game for lack of players, the Congregational Men's club picked up a line-up from spectators and routed the Lutheran Team 2 by a score of 25 to 5 at Washington High school last evening. Monroe Brown and Melvin Huntley pitched for the winners and James Lockyear handled the catcher's mitt as usual. Len Fasher and Carl Krueger tossed for the Lutheran team.

The Edison defeated Lutheran Team 1 by a score of 14 to 7 with Art Gottschalk and Clarence Marks hurling for the winners and Handsche and Bowers for the losers.

The two Lutheran teams played off a postponed game under the lights at the city ball park later in the evening.

Scheduled to meet next Tuesday evening are the undefeated Plywoods versus Lutheran 1 and Bordens versus the Edison.

Bodoh's Bulldogs
Beat Stern's Cubs
To Win First Half

New London — Jim Bodoh's Bulldogs won the first half season of the Junior Boys' Softball tournament at Washington High school playground yesterday by running over Louis Stern's Cubs, 30 to 16. Staging a strong climb from the bottom of the league, the Bulldogs scored 16 runs in one inning against the one-time leaders.

The Bulldogs won six out of nine games. Keith Geske's White Sox finished second with five wins, the Cubs were third with four and Norbert Humble's Badgers last with three.

On the winning squad are Bodoh, captain, Dick Bunke, assistant, Don Kringel, Ken Allen, Carleton Rogers, Ray Fritz, Bob Fischer, Gordon White, Bob Huntley, Gerald Sanders, John Miller and Tealrie Borchardt.

Registrations Open For Net Tournaments

New London — Registrations have been started for the senior boys' open tennis singles championship and men's singles championship tournament for all over 18 years of age. Registrations will close Saturday July 22, and pairings will be drawn to begin play Monday, July 24.

Each group will compete for new tennis trophy cups set up by the New London Sports Association. Already 16 boys and three adults have signed for play. Unless at least six adults register for competition, the boys will be divided into a junior and senior class to play for the two cups it was announced by R. M. Shortell, recreation director.

Boys will play in the afternoons and men in the evening. Registered for the men's games so far are Monroe Brown, Charlie Nader and Dave Freiburger. Players may sign up at the Washington High school gym any time during the day or evening.

Caledonia Votes Against Fire Plan

Township Is Second to Reject Proposed Purchase of Equipment

New London — Voters of the town of Caledonia voted against the New London Fire department's rural fire protection plan at a special election Wednesday. The town of Mukwa is still to vote on the plan on July 18 and Lebanon has deferred its ballot indefinitely. The town of Maple Creek was the first to reject the plan.

Under the original plan five neighboring townships would join the city of New London in the purchase of a $7,500 rural fire fighting truck. Savings in property taxes and reduced insurance costs for farmers are claimed by city firemen.

In the past a service charge of $35 has been made for each rural alarm but officers of the New London department point out that a bill is pending now in the legislature permitting charges up to $250 per run. The New London department has estimated each run with city equipment at a worth of about $100 and may levy such charges against townships if the present proposal falls through.

left arm. Mrs. Palmer, who is 81, has been confined to her home for some time because of ill health.

Insurance Firm's Housing Project Near Completion

New York—(AP)—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company, one of the mightiest landlords in the world, is rushing to completion one of the most ambitious single-housing projects ever conceived.

Covering 39 city blocks and situated on the perimeter of the Bronx, where towering tenements fade into gaping lots, scattered small shops dilapidated business buildings and squalid residences, the project, Parkchester, will be worth between fifty and sixty million dollars when completed. Fifty-one massive buildings, many of them 12 stories high will house in 12,289 apartments more than 40,000 persons of the $1,500 to $4,000-a-year income class.

While rental schedules have not yet been computed, experts estimate they will average about $14 per month per room, including gas and light. An enormous central heating plant will pump high-pressure heat for the entire project.

Outlet for Funds
There will be about 250 shops, two theaters, five small parks and a number of outdoor handball courts. Two parkways, each more than 100 feet wide, will divide the project into quadrants.

The investment, described by the insurance company as the greatest ever made in any American housing project, has given employment to thousands of laborers and has afforded the company an investment outlet for its almost $5,000,000,000 assets. This project adds to the large investment formerly
